Dewey Battles for GOP Senate

President Condemns Labor Act

Rivals Launch Final Drives

(Compiled From Wire Services)

Haunted by the specter of a Democratic Senate, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, GOP presidential candidate, plans a final whirlwind drive to bolster the Republican ticket. President Truman, equally determined, will pin his victory hopes to a campaign against the Taft-Hartley Labor law.

Dewey will end his campaign for the White House with a series of about 20 speeches, including four major talks. Party leaders are already accepting Dewey's election as a certainty, but show less optimism regarding the outcome of some of the senatorial races.

Dewey is spending today with top advisers in New York before returning tonight to Albany. He will spend the week end at the governor's mansion then start out late Monday night for the windup of his drive.

He will speak on Oct. 26 in the Chicago stadium, Cleveland on the night of Oct. 27, Boston on Oct. 28, with the grand finale in New York City on the night of Oct. 30.

President Truman, still battling and conceding nothing to Republican victory claims, plans to devote the final round of his campaign to opposition to the labor law and defense of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

With the election only 10 days away, he made it plain that these will be major talking points when he sets out tomorrow on a climactic bid to remain in the White House for four more years.

OUTLINES STRATEGY

The President reviewed his campaign platform and indicated his strategy for the final round in a seven-minute radio talk last night. At the same time, he renewed his challenge to Republican nominee Thomas E. Dewey to drop "catch phrases like 'unity' and 'efficiency,'" and make his position clear to the American people.

Mr. Truman made the Taft-Hartley law the chief target of his scornful broadsides. He said it "converts the Wagner act from a charter protecting the basic rights of the workers into an instrument for union busting by anti-labor employers."

Mr. Truman was introduced by Actress Tallulah Bankhead who said she's going to vote for him because he's "a team player who tries for everything."

Relaxed after a three-day rest, the President leaves Washington tomorrow for a quick swing through Pennsylvania. He will fly back to the Capital tomorrow night and set out Sunday aboard his campaign train for the mid-west.

$6,000,000 Campaign

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Campaign expenditures in the 1948 election neared six million dollars today as additional funds were poured into the contest for the White House and Congress.

Financial statements already filed with Congress under the federal corrupt practices law listed expenditures of more than four million dollars, with the latest reports of major political groups still to be received.

First of the major political groups to file its latest financial report was the Progressive party of Henry A. Wallace and his affiliates. They reported that expenditures on behalf of the third party's presidential candidate reached $1,101,261 by Oct. 18.

Three major Republican groups listed expenditures totaling three-quarters of a million dollars.

The Democratic National committee in its report for the first eight months of the year placed its expenditures at $838,712, while the Republican National committee set its expenses at $641,351.

DISTRIBUTE REVENUES

COLUMBUS—(AP)—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today announced a distribution of $1,414,-800 from the gasoline excise tax fund. Each county received $800 and each township $400.

$36,776 Reported In Drive

Community Chest workers reported at noon today that an additional $6,766 had been pledged to raise the total amount pledged to $36,776, as workers began their fifth day in the campaign for $122,635.

The Red Feathers unit, headed by James McConnell, continued to lead the two major divisions of the drive with a total of $20,904. The Blue Stars unit, headed by Harold Osmond, reported a total of $15,872 today.

Industrial B division still holds the honor of having raised the largest amount of any division in the drive. This division reported an additional $1,268 today to bring its total to $11,156.

Industrial A division reported an additional $2,000 today which brings its total to $4,300.

The general division, headed by Mrs. Louis Jisa, was still leading all divisions in the percentage of quota raised today. Mrs. Jisa's division has raised $4,846 which is $596 more than 50 per cent of its quota of $8,500.

Running a close second is the financial division, headed by Leland Powell. This division has a total of $2,953 or $353 more than 50 per cent of its quota of $5,200.

City 6th In Convictions

Drunken Driving Cases High Here

Mansfield municipal court ranks sixth in the state in convictions for driving under the influence of alcohol and failure to stop after accidents, a bureau of motor vehicle's report showed today.

The report, covering the first nine months of 1948, revealed that Mansfield municipal court, which tries traffic cases brought in by the police, sheriff's deputies and the state highway patrol, ranked 10th in the state in number of convictions during that period.

There have been 66 convictions for driving drunk during the January through September period and 33 for failure to stop after an accident, the report showed. Cities surpassing Mansfield were Akron, Cleveland, Dayton, Cincinnati and Columbus—all much larger in population.

A breakdown of the figures compiled by the driver's license division showed that the local municipal court convicted 693 drivers through September.

In addition to the above mentioned offenses, 100 were found guilty of reckless operation. The rest of the offenses were classified as miscellaneous.

Judge H. H. Schettler suspended 116 driver's licenses, revoked one and handed down judgments against three so far this year.

Death Foils Reunion After 21-Year Wait

PORTLAND —(INS)— Twenty-one years of waiting for his wife in Czechoslovakia were at an end today for Vincent Gaman of Portland.

But he sorrowfully believes that he would prefer to be still waiting.

Gaman came to the United States in 1927 and worked hard to make a home for his wife, Marija, and their three young daughters.

He sent for them six years later, but one thing and another delayed her coming. Then the war broke out.

Finally Gaman arranged for a flight to the United States.

His heart almost bursting with joy, he cleaned his apartment until it shone.

Then a United States-bound plane crashed near Prestwick, Scotland.

Among the dead was Mrs. Marija Gaman, Portland, Ore.

Convicted Murderer Gets Life

Sex-Killer Saved By Mercy Verdict

MEDINA —(AP)— At the age of 19, Clark Hill has only a prisoner's life ahead for the sex murder of Jeanette Weimer, the pretty car hop from Mogadore.

His alibi—That she died accidentally from carbon monoxide fumes escaping from a broken exhaust pipe on his car—failed to convince a three-judge panel last night. Their verdict: guilty of first degree murder by poison.

The judges, however, attached a recommendation of mercy that made a life term in prison mandatory. Thus Hill escaped the electric chair that Prosecutor William C. Batchelder, jr., had demanded.

When he heard the verdict, the ex-foundry worker's hands shook violently and he held his head until deputies led him back to his cell.

During the four-day trial, Prosecutor Batchelder said Hill's crime was this:

He took the 17-year-old girl out on a date April 9 and bought her a milk shake. Then when she wasn't looking he slipped a heavy dose of a sex stimulant into her drink, drove her to a lonely road and seduced her, and finally piped poisonous exhaust fumes into the automobile as she lay unconscious.

Later, he drove her corpse to the Highway Patrol Station, claiming both of them had been overcome with carbon monoxide.

In giving the verdict, Judge Windsor E. Kellogg said the panel had found Hill innocent of a second charge. Premeditated murder. A third count—murder in the attempted perpetration of rape — was dismissed two days ago.

The judges deliberated for 4½ hours. When they came out there still were about 100 onlookers on hand—most of them women. Among them were the dead girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weimer.

As the trial drew to a close yesterday afternoon, Batchelder attacked the defense for not placing Hill on the stand and insisted that he be sent to the electric chair.

On the defense side, Attorney Raymond B. Bennett said a 23-page confession signed by Hill was "too detailed, too good to be entirely true or accurate."

Hill's sentence was not passed immediately. Besides Judge Kellogg, other judges on the panel were Edmund H. Savord of Erie county and Lynn B. Griffith.

The mercy recommendation left Medina county's reputation of never sending a man to the electric chair intact. The last execution from this county was by hanging during the Civil War.

Court Blocks Progressives

CHICAGO (AP)— Blocked by a supreme court decision, Henry A. Wallace and his Progressive party today appealed directly to Republican Gov. Dwight H. Green to get the third party's state and national tickets on the Nov. 2 Illinois ballot.

But there appears to be no chance that the Progressives will be on the state ballot. The political effect seems to favor the Democrats.

Raps Herbert's 'Home-Rule' Policy

Lausche Brings Campaign to City

Former Governor Frank J. Lausche was scheduled to carry his fight for governor to Mansfield today as Gov. Thomas J. Herbert moved to Canton for a GOP rally tonight.

Lausche, the Democratic candidate, was scheduled to address a luncheon meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel shortly after noon today. He said he would discuss needed changes and improvements in the state welfare department.

Following his talk and session with party leaders here, Lausche planned to go to Mt. Vernon.

Lausche told a church supper meeting at Ravenna last night that he would ask the state legislature to give the governor power to "handle" local officials who fail to do their duty in enforcing the laws against gambling.

Governor Herbert's "so-called 'home rule' policy," Lausche said, was the signal for gamblers to open up again when Herbert took office.

The governor says let the sheriff do it," Lausche said. "The sheriff says let the mayor do it. As a result, nobody does anything."

"I have fought racketeers all over the state, as a governor, as a mayor and as a judge," the former Cleveland mayor added. "I've seen what they do to people in their cruel exploitation of men and women and children, and the spreading of corruption, vice and crime. As governor, I will renew my attempts to secure means by which the public may be protected."

BLAMES HERBERT

Lausche charged, too, that Herbert had allowed "Pressure groups" to whittle down the state's surplus.

"I set an example for thrift in my own office and it was followed in all state departments," he said. "The present governor has not given us rigid economy as he promised. He has not given the taxpayers a break."

Meanwhile, Gov. Herbert proudly cited the agricultural achievements of his administration at GOP rallies in Chillicothe and Springfield yesterday.

Herbert told his audiences that his administration had achieved four major agricultural objectives:

1—Reorganization and streamlining of the department of agriculture;

2—Securing numbers of highly-trained specialists, particularly veterinarians, for the department's technical staffs through better pay scales approved by the Republican legislature;

3—Rapid progress in the control of bang's disease and tuberculosis in cattle, and

4—Increasing and improving the state's food inspection services "to protect the health and welfare of our citizens."

In his Springfield talk, Herbert said that communism had been unable to gain a foothold in Ohio and promised that "as long as I am governor you may be assured that every effort will be made to keep subversive elements out of our schools and out of public office in this state."

Biggest Grid Show Promised

15,000 Expected to See Tygers Battle Massillon

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Mansfield's biggest grid contest is on tonight and it's going to take more than the weatherman's gloomy prediction to keep the fans away. The weatherman said light rain may fall.

Tonight's the night when the boys from Augie Morningstar's old stomping ground come over to test the fighting spirit of Augie's 1948 Mansfield grid team.

Fifteen thousand spectators, a record number here, are expected to squeeze into Arlin field for the traditional tilt between the Mansfield Tygers and the Massillon Tigers.

It'll be a good idea to bring the overshoes and the umbrellas and blankets. Mansfield police have urged that all persons driving to the game load their cars to the limit, to cut down what is expected to be a first-class traffic jam.

Senior high students let go with the biggest show of spirit in a long time last night.

STAGE SNAKE DANCE

An impromptu snake dance through downtown streets set the spirit machine in action last night as laughing, yelling high schoolers took over the city, stopping traffic with their hilarious chain which wound in and out of business places.

Snake dances have been going on in the halls of Senior high school since early this morning. The school band, led by Dick Butts, wound through the halls and in and out of rooms before school opened. Beverly Brissell, a junior, led the dance at noon made up of spirited students.

Coach Morningstar got the pupils in an uproar during the pep assembly this morning when he quoted Massillon team members as calling Mansfielders "country cousins."

The biggest pre-game and half-time grid show ever seen in Mansfield has been promised. Fans were urged to be at the field by 7:30 p. m., so they won't miss any of the display.

The Mansfield and Massillon bands will perform and 75 students will be enlisted to help with the show.

Mothers Get Assist From Mt. Vernon Firm

Feed 'Em, Burp 'Em, Throw Bottle Away

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON— (AP) —A disposable baby bottle made of plastic, shyly described by its maker as the greatest improvement in infant nursing in 80 years, had its first public testing yesterday.

And like everything else in Washington these days — from meeting the new ambassador to watching a lobster cooked by electronics—baby's bottle got its send off at a cocktail party.

Some 50 of us students of science and or Scotch showed up for the event, in the swanky Mayflower hotel.

Mrs. Adda May Allen, a local nurse who invented the bottle, explained how it works.

The plastic bottle comes in a roll of 100. Mama or papa gets the formula ready, then unrolls six of the bottles, cuts out each one, puts it on a rack.

A little gadget is used to pry each bottle open. The formula is poured in. The special nipple is put on.

The way Mrs. Allen did it, it looks simple.

According to her, the advantages are many.

When baby is through the bottle is thrown away. This saves all that business of sterilizing glass bottles.

Since it takes heat of 400 degrees to mold the plastic in the first place, it's bound to be sterile. And baby's bottles of the old-fashioned kind, even with sterilizing, are apt to have bacteria.

Then, too, (this is still Mrs. Allen talking) as the baby nurses, the plastic bottle collapses. This prevents him from gulping down a lot of air. One burp at the finish, and he's all set.

The new bottle is being put out by the Shellmar Products Corporation of Mount Vernon, Ohio. A kit containing the racks, the gadget to expand the bottles, nipples and 100 plastic bottles will retail for $6.95. Refills will cost a penny a bottle.

10 Nazis Hang For Killings

Murdered Allied Pilots, Prisoners

LANSBERG, Germany — (UP)— Ten former Nazi SS officers were hanged today on charges they participated in a common design to kill all Allied fliers who parachuted into Germany from disabled planes.

The SS men were found guilty of shooting without mercy any Allied fliers forced to land in German territory during the war. Several also were found guilty of mistreating prisoners in Dachu and Mauthausen concentration camps. In many instances, the court found, the prisoners died as a result of the beatings and tortures.

An Army announcement said those hanged included:

Hans Trummler, 48, commander of security police in the Rhein-Westmark area. He issued orders to all his subordinates to kill captured Allied fliers and "handed out cigars" for those who did, the announcement said.

Wladislaus Dopierala, 59, an SS guard at Mauthausen, convicted of killing 400 Polish inmates.

Arthur Fuhr, 39, an SS and Gestapo guard who, with two other men, shot an American flier in the head while driving him from Wiesbaden, where he had made a forced landing into Frankfurt.

Alex Bernard Piorkowski, 44, commander at the Dachau concentration camp from March, 1940 to June, 1942, who was charged with mistreating inmates.

Michael Raaf, 42, who took a captured American to a wood outside Bensheim. There an assistant or Raaf killed the American.

Karl Franz Stattman, 37, former sergeant who killed three American airmen near Bensheim.

Emil Hoffman, 55, group leader in the Nazi party, who murdered an American airman near Laubach.

Herbert Kunze, 35, German army lieutenant. He killed an American airman at Constanz.

Wenzel Wodak, 38, concentration guard who shot and beat inmates.

Fritz Dietrich, 50, lieutenant colonel who ordered police at Saarbruecken to kill American airmen who parachuted in the area.

The executions brought to 162 the number of German war criminals hanged at Landsberg.

Stattman went to the gallows singing "Deutschland Ueber Alles." Piorkowski, the first to die, said "I did no wrong." Others also professed innocence.

Anti-Freeze Scarce Here

Mansfield motorists who neglected to buy their anti-freeze before the recent cold spell are going to have trouble finding the permanent-type mixture.

Most of the supply of higher-priced fluid was sold last week, dealers said, and few Mansfield services stations had any of the anti-freeze today.

Alcohol-base mixtures were reported fairly plentiful, but dealers said they expected even the cheaper types of anti-freeze to be scarce soon because of stepped-up government buying.

Prices have increased sharply on all types of anti-freeze, especially the permanent type. Last year permanent fluids sold for about $2.60 per gallon. This year it is close to $3.50 a gallon. Alcohol-base types have increased about 25 cents a gallon, selling from $1.25 to $1.80 per gallon.

Dealers listed too much demand at one time, inadequate supplies, and national defense as the causes of the present shortage. Most dealers have been promised more supplies of the permanent type, they said.

Death Claims Noted Pole

WARSAW —(AP)— August Cardinal Hlond, primate of Poland, died today. He was 67.

Cardinal Hlond, an outspoken foe of the communist-led Polish government, passed away at 10:30 a. m., of penumonia, which he developed after undergoing an appendicitis operation.

His death reduced the membership of the Sacred College of Cardinals to 56. Its full quota is 70.

Big-4 Meeting Urged, Negev Fighting Ends

PARIS—(UP)—The six neutral members of the United Nations Security Council formally called on the Big Four today to end their Berlin blockade crisis now and suggested a council of foreign ministers' meeting on Germany about Nov. 30.

A long awaited resolution seeking to mediate the Big Four dispute over Berlin was presented to the council after a last minute request by Andrei Vishinsky for a delay in the council vote on the crisis until Monday.

The opening of the crucial meeting was delayed for an hour while the western delegates conferred privately on Vishinsky's request. They were reported to have decided to give Russia the extra time requested.

The neutral resolution, following the lines indicated before its formal presentation, called upon the Big Four:

1. To prevent any incident which would aggravate the situation in Berlin.

2. To put into effect simultaneously measures to remove all restrictions on transportation and communication placed by both Russia and the west in the Berlin blockade, and to begin at once talks in Berlin to establish the Soviet mark as the sole currency, with an agreement to be reached by Nov. 20.

3. Within 10 days after the currency problem is settled "or on a date mutually acceptable to the four governments," to reopen negotiations in the council of foreign ministers on all outstanding problems concerning Germany as a whole.

The third proposal would make the possible date of a council of foreign ministers meeting Nov. 30.

PEACE IN PALESTINE

Meanwhile the U.N. scored a major victory in Palestine as both Israel and Egypt accepted its cease-fire order today and directed their troops in the Negev region of southern Palestine to observe the order.

The truce went into effect officially at 7 a. m. (EST), but front line dispatches said both sides had ceased fighting hours before the deadline.

While waiting to see how effective the newest U.N. peace move will be, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Germany, got presidential authorization last night to call up 66 additional four-engine transport planes whenever he needs them on the supply run into the blockaded city.

The additional C-54 Skymasters will be recruited from military stations throughout the world. The U. S. Air Force now has 117 such planes running the blockade and recently ordered 40 more to Europe. There are also 60 twin-engine C-47 transports participating in the airlift.

Air transport experts estimated that if all 66 planes were added to the air fleet, another 1,000 tons of food and fuel could be flown into the former German capital every day.

Gen. Clay told newsmen yesterday that the airlift now is carrying more than 5,000 tons a day in good weather, and over 3,000 tons even in "very bad weather conditions." With winter approaching, the new transports will prove an important reserve for the airlift.

PERRY BROWN . . . New national commander of the American Legion.

Legion Ends Placid Meet

'Old Guard' Keeps Control

MIAMI, Fla. —(UP)— Some 30,000 members of the American Legion straggled out of Miami toward home today after the most placid national convention in the Legion's 30-year history.

In their last business yesterday, the delegates elected 56-year-old S. Perry Brown of Beaumont, Tex., national commander to succeed James F. O'Neil of New Hampshire.

Brown, veteran of both world wars and the candidate of the Legion's so-called "old guard," won an easy first-ballot victory over two opponents, both World War II veterans.

During its four-day parley, the convention did generally just what it was expected to do.

Meeting on a "preparedness" theme, the delegates approved resolutions calling for immediate enactment of universal military training legislation and urged Congress to outlaw communists in the United States.

It condemned the Russian blockade of Berlin.

One surprise was the Legion's reversal of a 30-year stand against soldier pensions. The convention urged the federal government to grant veterans of both world wars old age stipends beginning at age 55.

Under the convention's pension resolution, Congress was asked to provide monthly pensions of $60 for all veterans, regardless of income, at age 55, to be increased to $75 a month when the veteran reached 65. Only requirement would be 90 days service or a discharge due to service connected disability.

Songbird Now Ex-Jailbird

AUBURN, Calif.— (UP) —Irene Rankin, 23, literally sang her way out of jail.

Arrested as a vagrant Oct. 5, she was taken to jail to await trial Nov. 2. The moment she entered her cell, she began singing —all day and far into the night.

The constant stream of melody became so irritating that the sheriff demanded a speedy trial. Miss Rankin was given a suspended sentence and asked to leave town.

Cars Upset Engine

CLEVELAND — (AP) — New York-Chicago traffic on the New York Central line was blocked for several hours last night when a string of cars knocked a switch engine on its side. Joseph Rieke, 50, was injured.

New Military Work Planned

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The Department of the Air Force announced today that preliminary work will begin soon on three construction projects at Wright-Patterson Air Force base near Dayton at an estimated cost of $1,886,000.

The Department of the Army, meanwhile, announced that construction of 160 family housing units for commissioned and non-commissioned officers at Ft. Knox, Ky., would begin within a few months. The units will cost an estimated $2,368,320.

The Wright-Patterson and Ft. Knox projects were included in a list of 87 construction projects with a total value of $87,853,364 assigned to the Corps of Engineers by the two departments.

Success of United Nations Imperative

THROUGH this week a special effort is being made to direct public notice to progress that has thus far been made by the United Nations and to consider the potentialities of that organization as an instrument which may eventually provide safeguards against future wars.

While greatest interest in the United Nations program now revolves around disturbed conditions in Europe, Palestine and the Far East, its operations have actually been on so many fronts that only those who have followed its course closely can be aware of its various accomplishments.

Next Sunday—which has been designated as United Nations day—will mark the first time in history that people all over the world will join on the same day to express a common goal—the achievement of enduring peace.

According to Harper Sibley, chairman of the National Citizens' committee for United Nations day: "Next Sunday has been set aside to give ordinary men and women and their families an opportunity to share personally in the work of their United Nations."

"It is not enough," declares Mr. Sibley, "for our delegates in the United Nations to believe in and serve the United Nations—every citizen must understand its purpose and program.

"By itself, United Nations day will not guarantee peace or solve problems of how to live and work together, but through it the peoples of the earth will be able better than ever to know and use their common will to achieve peace by making their UN stronger, sounder, more effective."

Realistic consideration of present world conditions brings realization that many obstacles lie ahead of accomplishment of United Nations objectives, but when the frightful consequences of an atomic war are taken into account no efforts should be regarded as too great to be made in its behalf.

Oust Hummel as Secretary of State

WHAT MANY regard as the weakest spot in the list of Ohio's elective officials is in the office of secretary of state, a position to which Edward J. Hummel, present incumbent, is seeking election to fourth term.

Only through dependence on assistants has Hummel been able to give the appearance of competency in handling the business of his office and it is high time that he be retired from a position in which he has boasted privately that he is "going to stay until he dies."

It was after unsuccessful tries extending back to 1924 that Hummel finally gained nomination in 1940, when his opponent died shortly before the primary election date. He was defeated in the election that year, but in 1942 again gained the nomination and went into office with other Republicans on the state ticket.

Hummel provides an example of how an unqualified person can at least occasionally be elected to a public office for which he is totally unfitted, thus revealing the danger of permitting a candidate to swing into office as a result of "straight" voting, regardless of comparative merit of nominees.

Hummel's opponent this year is Charles F. Sweeney, of Cleveland, whose record in the legislature and as a member of the state liquor board has been such as to gain for him the high regard of Democrats and Republicans alike. He is recognized as a man of integrity and talent and it is believed he would restore to the office of secretary of state the competence it has lacked during the Hummel regime.

Inclination toward independent voting can be put to excellent use by indicating preference for Sweeney over Hummel for secretary of state.

James A. Reed, 'Richland County Boy'

NOT FAR out the Park avenue west road is the birthplace of the late former United States senator, James A. Reed, another of the natives of Richland county who attained national prominence but whose link with this community was weakened by the fact that while he was a small boy his family moved to Iowa and that his chief activities were in Kansas City, Mo., where he became established as a young lawyer in 1887.

There will be local interest, however, in a new book, "Jim Reed, Senatorial Immortal", written by Lee Meriwether, of St. Louis, a friend who managed Reed's unsuccessful try for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1928.

A revelation of interest is that, as a boy, Reed was a Republican, brought up in a Republican family, and that it was not until he neared voting age that he threw his lot with the Democratic party and entered upon what became a brilliant political career.

Typical of the Reed temperament is mention of an incident that occurred after the 1928 nomination for president had gone to Al Smith. Offered the vice presidential nomination, Reed is quoted as having replied: "Gentlemen, I appreciate the compliment but I do not care for a back seat on a hearse."

Schemers Covet Marshall Money

MANY citizens of European countries which are candidates for ECA assistance are inclined to think of Marshall Plan funds as sources of private benefit.

A great variety of schemes which need money for a foundation have been brought to the attention of ECA officials. Popcorn stands, fishing yachts, monuments to first citizens, and other ephemeral projects have been planned by eager would-be recipients of capital.

Officials of ECA read these communications, answer them politely, and turn them over to the governments of their respective countries. All funds are necessarily cleared through government agencies, which supervise their allocation.

Apparently when Europe returns to economic normalcy it will have its share of imaginative promoters with money-making or money-spending schemes to sell to any prospective investor.

What Some Other People Are Saying

DR. JOHN CHANG, chief of the Korean republic's U.N. delegation: "The outbreak of communist violence in Korea was designed to undermine orderly consideration by the United Nations of a plan, already in operation, to provide for peaceful unification of Korea."

J. HOWARD McGRATH, national Democratic chairman: "The continuing threat of isolationism in America is the greatest single obstacle to confidence abroad in U. S. intentions."

Who's Got Who?

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Book Gives You Key To Secret Cipher

A man who once "was the most devoted communist in the United States" has written a book about communism.

It may poison your dreams, if it does not prevent you from sleeping entirely. Nevertheless, it is an important book because of the man who wrote it, and because, in many respects, it is like a key to a secret cipher. It will help you to decode the strange, unpredictable and often contradictory tactics of the communists.

The book is called "The Whole of Their Lives." (Charles Scribner's Sons.) The author is Benjamin Gitlow.

Gitlow was the head of the American Communist party in 1929.

He made three trips to the Soviet Union on official business of the party. He knew Josef Stalin personally. He rose to this eminence because, for many years, he was a whole-souled believer in the movement and more important, because he had character and brains.

For the same reason, he says, he no longer is a communist.

Gitlow disagreed with and defied Stalin on a matter of principle he is one of the few men who lived to write the story of it) and he says that caused him to break with the entire movement.

Therefore he would appear to be what a newspaper reporter calls "a reliable source" on the question of communism. Let's see what he has to say about it.

* * *

Questions Answered.

Question 1 — Do you doubt that American communists and their fellow travelers get direct orders from Moscow? On page 204, describing the birth of the American Communist party in 1919, Gitlow says, "Stalin took over the American Communist party lock, stock and barrel, in the middle of May, 1929, by a series of decrees promulgated by him and read by Molotov." On page 54 Gitlow writes, "In 1919 the American Communist party became a branch office of Moscow. Moscow made the decisions governing the actions of the American communists."

Question 2 — Do you wonder sometimes, in the light of Soviet pronouncements, whether the American system and the Russian system can get along together? Gitlow says, "From the days of Lenin to the supreme ruler, Stalin, survival of Soviet power and communism is held impossible unless capitalism with its political and social structure is destroyed. It explains why the theory of world revolution has never been abandoned and why the Soviet government at great expense and effort maintains and supports communist parties in other countries."

Question 3 — Does it puzzle you to see the agreements made at Yalta, Tehran and Potsdam so blandly disavowed by the Soviets today? Gitlow has many statements on communist integrity. Here are two of them: "Communist policy is never simple. It is always complex and paradoxical. A momentary policy is always tied up with a long-range basic policy. This accounts for the many twists in the party line." And again he says, "Communist leaders may with impunity break one day the solemn pledge they made the day before."

Question 4 — Why are the labor unions so important to the communists? Gitlow writes, paraphrasing Stalin himself, "without support in the unions the Communist party cannot make a revolution. Getting control of the unions is, therefore, the number one task of the party. By getting control of unions, the communists mean getting control of those unions in the decisive, the basic industries of the land, the industries upon which the economic life of the country depends."

You may have wondered, too, how the communists are able to capture young people, boys and girls in their teens, and bend them to the will of the party. The stories that explain it are numerous in this book. They make shocking reading.

These are all the statements of a man who helped to organize the communists in America, who knows the dialectic of the party, used its tactics, and was an intimate of its orthodox leaders, as well as having been one himself.

They are the words of a man who was on the "inside." And they are worth reading in the attempt to understand the problem that confronts us all.

Unshackled Tennessee

By THOMAS L. STOKES

NASHVILLE — The South offers a crazy-quilt sort of political pattern in this strange year. It is full of paradoxers. It almost denies analysis in some particulars.

The political map shows states like South Carolina, Alabama and Mississippi very nearly going overboard for the Dixiecrat ticket composed of a South Carolinian, Governor J. Strom Thurmond, and Mississippi's governor, Fielding L. Wright, yet with comparative minor infection seemingly in some of their neighbors.

Republicanism runs strong in some this year, such as Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and here in Tennessee, and this Republican tide will be helped by such defections as there are to the Dixiecrats in this graup of states.

Tennessee is part of still another pattern. While of the South it partakes also of the characteristics, political and economic, of a border state, and is often included among border states for political calculations.

When there is a heavy Republican swell over the nation, as there appears to be this year, it might be expected to slop over and engulf border states. That happened to an extent in the 1946 congressional elections in Kentucky, West Virginia and Missouri.

Yet there is strong Democratic resistance this year in those three states which may be successful and that is true, likewise, of Tennessee. The best political judgment here is that President Truman will carry Tennessee, and that it also will elect to the Senate the Democrat, Estes Kefauver, now a member of the House, over R. Carroll Reece, former House member and former chairman of the Republican national committee, as well as choosing for governor, a Democrat, Gordon Browning, who was the state's chief executive once before. He is opposed by Roy Acuff of hill-billy band fame.

Further, it was a creature of a Democratic administration in Washington. It was natural, consequently, that TVA was the principal topic of Senator Alben W. Barkley, Democratic vice presidential candidate, when he was in the state for speeches in Chattanooga and here.

With this mammoth project for production of electric power he coupled atomic energy, which also is identified with this state through the Oak Ridge plants that throw Tennessee full into the sweep of both national and international affairs in these times.

Tennessee, too, recently has come through another experience, a political experiment and, in its way, a purging of old ways. This was when it rose up to defeat the hitherto seemingly all-powerful Boss Ed Crump of Memphis, whose word has been law in politics in this state for so long through his control of the rotten political borough he made of Memphis, that gave him a balance of political power that he used skillfully to influence politics throughout the state.

His hand-picked candidates for the Democratic senatorial and gubernatorial nominations were defeated in the uprising in which the symbols were Estes Kefauver and Gordon Browning. It hardly seems likely that the state now would turn its back on this revolution and on the two men, both of proven capacity, and turn to Republicans. In his dilemma, Boss Crump has come out for the Dixiecrats, but it does not seem that this can turn the trick for the Republicans.

Looking Back

Twenty Years Ago Today

Monday, Oct. 22, 1928

Nationwide survey showed increased business and forecast was for continued industrial expansion. (The depression that struck within a year having not yet been foreseen.)

Alfred Matin sr., 75, died at his home, 173 Wayne street.

Bank building in Lucas was bought by S. A. Foltz for $3,135.

Birth report: Son to Mr. and Mrs. Carl McCullough, 128 East Arch street.

Mansfield Produce company was incorporated, with capital stock of $5,000.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stors, East First street, left on motor trip to California.

Wilbur L. Lemley, 28, died at his home, 223 Home avenue.

Mrs. R. C. Straub, 141 West Fourth street entertained in honor of Miss Mary Perl, who was to leave soon for new home in Huntington Ind.

Lloyd Leppert, 138 Reba avenue, was injured in auto collision on Foster street.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On October 22, 1914, during the first World war, an American commission was organized in London to save the Belgians from starvation.

Boss Crump Deposed.

CERTAIN psychological factors seem to be involved here in Tennessee that are interesting. In its border state capacity, Tennessee is more of the national than of the South, which explains the existence of less of the typical southern provincialism to which the Dixiecrats appeal.

Tennessee, too, has been the scene of a great economic and social experiment in TVA which has given an insight into the solution of problems that lie beyond state borders and TVA, of course, was a development by the federal government and is, in effect, national in character.

Forrestal Opposed Truman On Reserves

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense James Forrestal had no comment for the press after he was ordered by the President to revitalize U. S. military reserves.

"The executive order relating to reserve components has not been received.' Forrestal told reporters bluntly on Oct. 16. He wouldn't be able to comment, he apologized, until he had a chance to study it.

The real Truth is, Forrestal not only had studied the directive thoroughly in advance but had done his best to stop Truman from issuing it.

The order was first sent over to Forrestal's office on October 9. Although the next day was Sunday, Forrestal marched over to the White House in a sweat. For reinforcement, he brought along Army Chief of Staff Omar Bradley.

They tried to talk the President out of issuing the order, but all Truman would promise was to hold it up until the following Thursday to give them a chance to make suggestions. Late Thursday night Forrestal came up with a barrage of recommendations that would have blasted the heart out of the order.

Except for a few minor points, these were rejected. The most important concession Truman made was to cite Forrestal's pet service, the Navy, for its excellent reserve program.

The President was out of town campaigning when the release was finally made by presidential assistant Dr. John Steelman. Yet even as late as the evening before publication, Forrestal was in Steelman's office still trying to block the directive.

Old Lobbying Tricks.

OLD lobbyists, like chickens, always come home to roost.

One of the oldest lobbyists, who has tried his hand at all sorts of little games, is Robert E. Smith, who once held forth in a swank mansion in Rock Creek Park where congressmen drank champagne and listened to sweet words whispered by the big utilities.

Smith was then lobbying against the Holding Company Act. When his lob-nest was exposed, he slipped quietly out of the limelight; only to come back later with another high-sounding name —"The National Conference of Investors," supposedly to protect the stockholders of the New Haven Railroad.

However, U. S. Judge Carroll Hincks of Connecticut soon punctured that. After exposing the way Smith had put his daughter on the payroll, made his son-in-law office manager, and paid a salary to himself, Judge Hincks stated:

"The dominant motive underlying the formation of this committee was the desire . . . to obtain a gainful retainer."

When this lobbying venture blew up, Smith conceived another high-sounding title — "The Life Insurance Policy-holders Protective Association." Under this letterhead Smith has scared enough insurance holders out of money to pay around $50,000 in expenses.

* * *

Goes To Tennessee.

LATEST Smith operation has been to jump into the Tennessee senatorial campaign with a letter to insurance policy holders asking them to vote for GOP candidate Carroll Reece. The letter begins by inviting the policy holder to "serve as a member of our national advisory board." Since the mimeographed letter is sent to thousands of people the advisory board must be a gigantic one.

Continues lobbyist Smith: "We wish to call to your attention a matter which is of vital concern to every policy holder in the nation. This is the election of Mr. Carroll Reece as U. S. senator from Tennessee."

"Carroll Reece," claims lobbyist Smith, "was quick to realize how fatal this 'New Deal' plan would be to those whose future is dependent upon their insurance."

The joke is that Reece, when a member of Congress served on the New Deal's temporary national economy committee, which conducted the most critical investigation of the insurance companies since the days when Charles Evans Hughes probed them in New York.

The life insurance companies were cross-examined from stem-to-stern, with Carroll Reece not only participating but helping to appropriate more congressional money for the investigation.

Despite this, lobbyist Smith concludes his letter: "I shall appreciate a line as to your views on the probability of Mr. Reece's election. We are of course deeply concerned."

The senatorial race between Reece and Estes Kefauver is one of the most interesing in the nation. Young Kefauver dared attempt what everyone predicted was impossible—successfully buck the Crump machine. After being defeated in the senatorial primaries, the cantankerous boss of Memphis got sore and bolted the Democratic party.

Kefauver is considered a young-and-coming Cordell Hull, while Reece got in wrong with many Tennesseans because he opposed Cordell Hull's trade treaties. Reece, once an energetic congressman, in recent years has veered toward Taft isolation and was a vigorous Dewey opponent before and at Philadelphia.

Dave Boone Says:

"A GARDEN of Eden existence," with nobody working more than 30 hours a week, is predicted by a field director of an organization called the National Recreation Association. That'll be pretty ducky and we can hardly wait.

* * *

"The time is near when almost everyone will belong to the leisure class," he says. Then what will we all do for somebody to hate and denounce? Man will never be happy when there is nothing to kick about, if you ask me.

* * *

Folks today only work a small part of the time their fathers and grandfathers worked, and the more free time they get the more ornery they seem.

* * *

When we're all in the leisure class, I can see somebody running for president and winning easily on a pledge to end the boredom and give 'em all an even chance to enjoy a good day's work and an occasional sweat.

Timely Editorial

What Differential Is Fair?

What is the proper ration between the pay for skilled labor and for unskilled labor?

Forty years ago, according to the department of labor, the average wage of skilled workers was 100 per cent more than that of unskilled labor. The trend has been steadily downward until now the difference is only 55 per cent.

It is basic to our economic system that the man who by training, ability or just plain hard work becomes a more valuable employe than his neighbor is rewarded for so doing. That is a chief factor in our industrial success.

Uniform wages would have a deadening effect on all concerned. Certainly, a substantial differential must be maintained in order to encourage the development of special skills. The question is—how much? Is 100 per cent too much? Is 55 per cent too little?—Akron Beacon Journal.

Assignment: America

Dewey Has Good Reason

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — With the campaign well into its final fortnight, and all the polls practically handing him the presidency, the big question of the week in Washington is as follows:

Why is Dewey doing it?

In short, the query raises the point that, with the election conceded to be in the bag by all the pundits, political and otherwise, it might be that the Republican candidate is merely risking stubbing his toe by continuing his active campaigning.

The theory is that, from here on, he could coast in sitting down, so to speak.

Whenever the question is raised, two answers are given.

The first, of course, is that he is working to guarantee a Republican Senate, and it is not an idle answer, as any political observer knows. With the relatively few Senate seats open at any given election—considering the six-year terms—even a landslide for one party or the other does not necessarily guarantee control of the senior legislative body.

In this particular election, the Senate race admittedly is so close that it may boil down to the decision in a single state—Iowa or New Mexico, for instance.

Because of that danger, Governor Dewey has continued to pop up with fraternal back-pats for Republican candidates who previously were not pals of his. Minnesota's Senator Joe Ball is an excellent example, since he abandoned Dewey and jumped the party to support FDR four years ago.

There are other examples, and the experiences of President Truman during the past two sessions provide plenty of proof that when the opposition party controls the upper house, it gives nothing but frustration for the chief executive.

That alone, of course, is adequate reason, for Dewey's doings, even when it seems he has the election wrapped up.

* * *

Needs Friendly Senate.

BUT around the capital, they suggest a second answer to the question of why he's doing it. They say that he is working to see that it not only is a Republican Congress, but also is a Dewey Congress.

In the light of recent congressional history, that could well be a smart move on his part.

If the Republicans cinch the control of both houses, it will take care of the rank-and-file of their legislative problems. That is to say, they will boss all the committees—and it is, of course, in committee that ninety per cent of all legislation is saved or slain.

Experts agree that there will be little difficulty in the House, since the shorter term of office inevitably makes members of that body more amenable to administration wishes.

After all, most patronage positions come through the executive branch of government. And men who must start looking toward the next election even before the end of November are acutely aware of the importance of patronage.

But the Senate is a different story. It was, for example, Democratic senators who finally put the brakes on the late President Roosevelt—even before a senator named Alben Barkley arose to lead the rebellion against the administration. The senators are around long enough to get independent of party.

In short, Governor Dewey might be wiser than even most Republicans think in continuing to support potential senators—even after he thinks his own election is assured.

Farmer's Diary

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

QUESTIONS—YOU TELL!

DOES hybrid corn cause soil to deteriorate faster than the old-fashioned varieties do?

Should city people "Adopt a Farmer" movement?

Should the government let farmers who build up wornout soil go tax free for five years?

What is the best way to teach farmers something new?

J. I. Rodale, editor of Organic Gardening, author of Pay Dirt, suggests that farming is a matter to be taken up in the churches. "Soil and man and God go together . . . they are deeply interrelated and the church must be the arbiter. It must investigate the status of agricultural practice and see if a man can stay a good Christian while abusing the soil and the public that eats the fruit of such soil. The church must set a standard of Christian ethics that Christian farmers should follow" . . . see Organic Gardening, October 1948. (Do you agree?)

Is the farmer's business everybody's business?

Is it true that pure white bread does not nourish? May it even cause malnutrition? Will animals fed exclusively on white bread and boiled milk die of deficiency diseases within a few months?

Does pasteurization really solve the milk problem? Or is raw milk actually better for health, under sanitary conditions.

Why does it take more oranges to fill a case today than it did 10 or 15 years ago?

Is anybody devoting time and dollars to the study of soil, food, etc., in relatioin to cancer?

Are we actually starving—all of us—in the midst of plenty?

Are we so far gone that we cannot face about and go the other way? What can we do about it?

Mrs. Kasenkina's Story—No. 27

Desperation Brings Desperate Jump

By OKSANA S. KASENKINA
Edited by Isaac Don Levine

The five days and nights of my confinement to the third floor of the Soviet consulate became a mounting nightmare for me. I had no rest. Presumably I was free to move about. In reality I found myself under domestic detention.

'Why do you keep me here? Why are you making a nervous wreck out of me? I would keep asking Lomakin or Chepurnykh "With all that noise outside and all those curiosity-seekers, why don't you let me go to Glen Cove?"

I hope that there, at the Long Island estate which was being used as a rest-home for Soviet officials, I would find it possible to escape to freedom But these pleas of mine fell on deaf ears

"Skoro Povedem—we'll be leaving soon" Lomakin would answer, indicating that he too expected to journey back to Russia

One day Lomakin reported to me that Countess Tolstoy had declared to the press that I had a sister in England and that my husband had been purged He feigned surprise at these facts which I had confided to Miss Tolstoy, and queried me about it in a significant tone.

There was no longer any doubt in my mind as to what fate had in store for me upon my return to Russia The deadline for my appearance in court had passed and those surrounding me now felt that I would not be surrendered to the American authorities for questioning

I began to figure out possible ways and means of escaping I feared among the onlookers in the street there might be Soviet agents planted by the consulate to see if I were communicating by signals with confederates outside

I virtually stopped taking food, which worried the consul greatly He would ask me if there were any appetizing items they could buy for me I kept insisting that I wanted a change of quarters I put on a pair of slacks and a jacket, and tried to relax. But I could find no peace.

To keep me entertained, the consular women finally installed a little radio in my room I could hardly understand what the news broadcasts were reporting about my case, but now and then I caught my name and those of the consuls and realized what a sensation the affair had become

★

I asked to be transferred downstairs To show me that there was no other room available in the building I was taken down to the basement which was used as a storeroom After this I preferred to return to the third floor I had noticed that there was a grilled iron door leading from the basement passageway into the court yard

'You can see that we have no space ' Lomakin assured me but you can come downstairs any time you want to You are free to go about as you please The implication was that my stay in the consulate was all for my protection

The afternoon of Thursday Aug 12, I decided to put Lomakin's words to the test and make an attempt to get out I dressed for the street, put on my gloves, and boldly walked downstairs, making for the front door

Suddenly I was surrounded by a band of men There must have been twenty of them and they seemed to have sprung out from every corner

'Where are you going?"'

'You mustn't leave '

'Don't you see what's going on in the street? '

Go back to your room"'

Lomakin himself appeared 'PODNIMYTES!—Up you go!"' he snarled, repeating the order

★

I was hustled up the stairs Two of the consular females were immediately assigned to me One of them was Petrova the other was my former landlady, Zoya Porojnakova, who had her little girl Olechka with her

'Why did you do this?' they asked 'Do you think that you're under arrest?" Zoya remarked with a sly smile

"Why?" I cried, breaking into sobs "They don't let me go out I'm stifling here without air I'm no longer my own self, and can't sit still or rest"

I sat there smoking furiously What shall I do now? I kept saying to myself I must do something"

The little girl began to cry too To quiet her I went across the hallway, to Lomakin's alcove to get a soft drink out of the refrigerator for the child The door from the alcove to Lomakin's living room was ajar I noticed that the window in the back was open

I poured out the drink for the little girl and took it to her Her mother and Petrova were in my room They were trying to soothe the tot with the cold beverage

★

I made a dash for Lomakin's room closing the door behind me I climbed up to the window sill saw a wire attached to the outside wall of the house, and looked down as I shivered with a chill of terror I crossed myself seized the wire, and leaped

In an instant I was lying down in the courtyard in a heap. I was alive! I had not lost consciousness. As it appeared later, I had burned the two fingers which gripped the wire as I slid a short distance down before I pulled it off the building. It was a telephone wire and fell all about me.

As I was groaning and calling for help there were outcries and sounds of alarm in the air above me There were people fumbling at the iron door leading from the consulate building into the court yard As I only learned subsequently the door had been locked long ago and Soviet officials could not locate the key for several minutes

The American police officers having climbed over a fence separating the consulate grounds from the adjoining building were at my side

'American hospital I murmured my wishes to them as I lost consciousness

(Tomorrow Mrs Kasenkina concludes her story.)

Mayor Urges Care to Halt Fall Fires

ASHLAND — Mayor Louis Mansfield today cautioned Ashland residents to use utmost care in preventing leaf fires on city streets during the heavy fall of leaves this week.

Dropping of matches or cigarets in leaf piles might start fires which would reach parked cars or homes, he warned.

City street department employes are collecting leaves as rapidly as possible but are unable to cope with the heavy downfall at present, the mayor said.

Litigation Delays New Fair Site

Vote Withheld By 9-Man Board

COLUMBUS — (AP) — To Fair Manager Ed Bath a new $500,000 state fair site is "just plain horse sense."

To State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson it's "unnecessary."

Between Ferguson and Bath stands the State Board of Control, which must decide if Ohioans are to have a new fairgrounds near the exclusive upper Arlington residential district in the outskirts of Columbus.

Currently the board's decision is stymied, pending the outcome of three taxpayer's suits in Franklin county courts attacking the project.

A year ago, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert appointed a commission of nine members, headed by former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper of Cincinnati, to choose a site for the new gairgrounds. Money to purchase land for that purpose had been appropriated by the state legislature.

In order to release the money, the board is required by law to have the approval of four of its five members. One member, State Auditor Ferguson, declared he would not vote for the site.

Another member, Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins, said he would withhold his vote until "all litigation in the matter has been cleared up."

Lacking the votes of Ferguson and Jenkins, one of which was essential in order to release the money, the board did not act on the fair commission's request.

Charles J. Chastang, one of two Columbus attorneys who filed the suits on which release of the money now hinges, said he is attacking the legality of the legislature's appropriation.

"One of the suits," Chastang explained, "seeks to have the appropriation act declared unconstitutional.

Another suit, Chastang said, maintains the fair commission has been "arbitrary in its actions and doesn't know what it's doing."

The position of the new site's backers was summed up by Fair Manager Bath.

"It's near town and it's adjacent to property owned by the state," Bath said.

"Being near the university would mean a broader use of the fair grounds for agricultural purposes on a year round footing.

Bath declared "If anyone is to be blamed for this site it's I. It was my idea, and I think it's a good one. There's a railroad nearby which could serve the fair, but no one is going to build houses near a railroad.

Auditor Ferguson, who bases his objections primarily on the new fairgrounds being "unnecessary," has stated that the fair's present location in the city of Columbus is "ideal for the purpose."

Tax Collections Above 1947 Rate

COLUMBUS — (INS) — State Treasurer Don Ebright announced today that the state collected $2,582,165 in sales taxes during the week ending Oct. 9, or $471,224 more than was taken in during a similar period last year.

Ebright said the latest figures brought the year's collections to $96,012,941, compared to $83,072,271 up to Oct. 11, 1947.

Receives Title To Water Plant

HAMILTON — (AP) — The city of Hamilton now holds title to the water system which served the wartime Wright plant, City Manager Mark Thomas reported.

He said the city received title yesterday when the federal government accepted the city's check of $119,129 in final payment of the $868,000 charge for the system and well field.

ATTENTION!

Miss Bowers, representative of the Arthur Murray Studios to open in Mansfield, will interview applicants for positions at the Purdy Bldg., 26½ S. Main St., Thursday, October 21st, thru Saturday, October 23rd.

CAMPING

This . . . and this . . . and this will help prevent this!

EVER SEEN a youngster being arrested? (He can't look at you. And YOU can't look at him.)

It rocks you right in the pit of your stomach, sickens your very heart and soul.

Then an uncomfortable question plagues you: "Am I just a little guilty along with the kid?"

And maybe you think, "Have I done enough to help Scouting in this town? Have I vigorously supported the Y and the recreation centers? I certainly know boys and girls have got to let off steam—but am I standing staunchly behind those agencies that direct young energies along sunny, happy, constructive roads?"

Your chance to help is coming this week when the volunteer from the Community Chest calls. Welcome this good neighbor with an open door—and an open heart. He's giving you a chance to plead "Not Guilty" to the charge of callous indifference to the needs of youth in our town. Take another look at these pictures. Then give—generously!

Remember—one pledge covers many Red Feather services. Because we have a well-managed Community Chest uniting many appeals, you are called on only once a year for all of them. So when you give, GIVE ENOUGH . . . enough for ALL Red Feather services . . . enough for a FULL year.

A Special
Here is your chance to purchase a very lovely brand new 4 room bungalow, with attached breezeway and garage. This home can be purchased one of three ways, F.H.A. conventional loan with approximately $4000 down, or land contract for those who would want something as nice as this with a limited down payment of $2000 or less. A down payment of less money would require larger monthly payments. Be smart, why pay an enormous rent with a home to live in with absolutely nothing to show for it. Call us for complete information.

Registered and Grade
Fresh and Springers

At my farm on U. S. Route 42, between Plain City and Delaware, Ohio.

Thursday Afternoon
October 28th

1:00 P. M.—LUNCH SERVED

This entire offering consists entirely of first and second calf heifers and young cows, either fresh or springers. The milk market is consistently steady and strong. The supply of good producing cows and heifers is low. This sale is the opportunity to replace the light producers, and to add to an already good herd some extra heavy producers who will make their presence felt in the milk check and convert the present good crops into cash at the greatest efficiency.

These cows are from the good herds of Canada, where good breeding and care is practiced, to obtain the utmost from each individual. Many have records of production that rank at the top. Others are from dams and sires that bespeak of nothing but the best. The calves are sold separately and are from sires that have been selected for their records. All calves guaranteed to live for one week after sale date.

A large percentage of the entire offering is calfhood vaccinated.

All registrations transferred free of charge. Four generation pedigrees furnished.

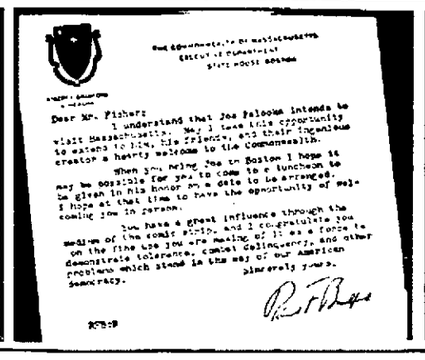
ACTUAL PHOTO OF LETTER FROM GOV. BRADFORD OF MASS.



Dear Mr. Fisher:

I understand that Joe Palooka intends to visit Massachusetts. May I take this opportunity to extend to him, his friends, and their ingenious creator a hearty welcome to the Commonwealth.

When you bring Joe to Boston I hope it may be possible for you to come to a luncheon to be given in his honor on a date to be arranged. I hope at that time to have the opportunity of meeting you in person.

You have a great influence through the medium of the comic strip, and I congratulate you on the fine use you are making of it as a force to demonstrate tolerance, combat delinquency and other practices which stand in the way of our American democracy.

Sincerely yours,

KNOBBY AND I WILL ESTABLISH TRAINING QUARTERS. I'LL CALL YOU TOMORROW FROM BOSTON.
I'LL HAVE A LOT TO DO, DEAR. WE'LL NEED EVER SO MANY THINGS FOR HOUSEKEEPING.

'Neglects' To Inform Mother of Brave Deed

Schoolboy Hero Stops Runaway Truck

PEORIA, Ill.—(INS)—It was news to the mother of 11 year-old Wayne Sisk sixth grade Peoria public school safety patrolman that her son had played a hero's role near the school.

Wayne was standing on the slope of a hill Wednesday when he saw a driverless truck careening down the hill. It was headed straight for the school yard where students were leaving classes.

Wayne yelled a warning and pursued the truck on foot. He leaped to the running board, only to discover that the door was locked.

Then the boy clambered over the roof of the cab and unlocked the door from the other side.

He managed to pull the emergency brake as the truck neared the yard. The impetus carried the vehicle through a barricade but the truck stopped short of the nearest children.

Lucas Area Farmers Wage Battle Against Fire Menace

Bond Issue Will Be Put Up to Vote

Rally Scheduled Wednesday Night

By VIRGINIA LEE
(N-J State Correspondent)

LUCAS—This sleepy, rural community, nestled in the rolling, lush farmlands of Pleasant Valley, is making a determined bid to protect itself from the ravages of fire.

Lack of adequate fire fighting equipment in the immediate areas surrounding Lucas has been blamed for the complete loss from fire of the Mt Zion church and several farm barns this year.

Aroused farmers petitioned township trustees to put a $20,000 bond issue on the ballot for the purchase of fire equipment and a fire station.

Several high-ranking state and county fire officials will meet with Lucas and Monroe township voters at the Lucas school Wednesday night to explain and answer questions concerning the proposed less-than-one mill fire protection levy.

Township trustees put the proposed levy on the Nov. 2 ballot recently.

STEELE TO SPEAK

Foremost of the speakers will be Charles R. Scott, deputy state fire marshal and chief of the Ohio Bureau of Fire Prevention, and L. V. Steele, Mansfield fire chief.

The levy would finance a $20,000 bond issue for the purchase of fire equipment and housing facilities for it A majority vote is required for passage.

The village is served by a volunteer fire company. The township, outside the village, has no protection except a verbal agreement for assistance of the volunteer, company that is almost powerless beyond the village's water mains The volunteer company has no auxiliary pump and few chemicals, according to the firemen.

The long-standing campaign of the Monroe Township Farm Bureau for adequate fire protection gained impetus this year with heavy losses in rural areas.

The Monroe township fire committee is sponsoring the educational mass meeting and has extended invitations to all neighboring farmers.

Damage $40,000

Old Brinkhaven Mill Destroyed By Fire

BRINKHAVEN—The Mohican River Mill, which had stood the ravages of time for more than 150 years, today was leveled to the ground by a fire of undetermined origin.

Fire companies from nearby Millersburg and Danville were called to assist in battling the two-story blaze that flared up at 2 a m

Millersburg Fire Chief Gordon Marton estimated the damage in excess of $40,000 Owner Joseph Vanderhoven couldn't be reached for comment this afternoon although it is believed the mill was covered by insurance

One of the oldest landmarks in the state of Ohio, folklore has it that various Indian tribes in the vicinity used the mill, which was erected along the Mohican river, as a gathering point to grind corn, wheat and maize.

The fire was first discovered by an unidentified Pennsylvania railroad engineer who gave the alarm to townspeople

The mill was still in operation this week despite its age Six men were employed by Vanderhoven to operate the mill—one of the few remaining water mills in the nation.

The owner had renovated some of the outmoded equipment but continued to use water as the source of generating power.

Death Takes Civic Leader

Wilbur C. Hegnauer Stricken In Cleveland

Wilbur C. (Bill) Hegnauer, 55, a veteran of World War I, and a Mansfield civic and fraternal leader, died, at Crile hospital, Cleveland, this morning. He had been ill since the first part of August.

His wife, Mrs. Ina Hegnauer, had been in Cleveland and had returned home when his condition remained unchanged. She was called back about 9 a. m. today but arrived about 20 minutes too late.

Mr. Hegnauer was born in Columbus April 3, 1893, son of the late Christian and Cornelia Hegnauer. He came to Mansfield with the family about 45 years ago and attended Mansfield high school.

His first job was with the Ohio Brass company, where he worked for a number of years. Later he was an employe of the Westinghouse. He served in World War I with the 159th Depot brigade at Camp Sherman. He was discharged at Camp Meade, Md., following the Armistice.

On Dec. 7, 1938, he became associated with Ritter's and was vice president of the firm at the time of his death.

Mr. Hegnauer was a member of the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church and a choir member. He was associated with music activities here for many years. He was a member of the Elks lodge, serving as exalted ruler in 1931, a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the Earl D. McVey Post, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the 40 et 8 club.

Surviving Mr. Hegnauer besides his wife, are a daughter. Mrs. Margery Koroknay, and a sister, Mrs. Alma Esselburn.

Funeral arrangements in charge of the Wappner funeral home, were incomplete this afternoon.

City To Request New Bridge Bids

Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison said today he would readvertise for bids for relocation of the Gass road bridge.

The first time bids were asked, only Contractor Roger Au offered to do the work, but his bid exceeded the estimate. Bids were asked again. The deadline was Wednesday, but no one submitted an offer.

HAT SHOW—Judges decided these three original hat creations were outstanding among those worn by the two dozen Lucas Community Garden club members. Prettiest hat in the show was that worn by Mrs. Howard Darling, Park avenue west, Mansfield, that was fashioned from marigolds poked through holes in a colander. Mrs. Clarence Jones, center, wears the hat bearing 17 kinds of vegetables on a baling wire band that won the title of "most original." The high job, fashioned from an upturned flower pot and decorated with a fly swatter and spray can along with smaller gadgets, is worn by its designer, Mrs. David Culler. It was termed "most ridiculous."

Zany Hat Creations Stop Lucas Garden Club Show

LUCAS—Even Hedda Hopper would have been shocked by the creations called hats that members wore to the Lucas Community Garden club meeting in the Lucas school recently when Mrs. Ann Thomas read favorite nature poems.

Judges said the hats reflected poetry of the soul. They decided that the unusual millinery modeled by the two dozen women fell generally into three classes: ridiculous, original and pretty. Of course they had difficulty in classifying some of the numbers and more trouble in picking the winners, but by the departure hour they came through with the winners and runners-up listed as honorable mention.

Judges were: Mrs. Sidney Baughman and Mrs. Frank Ruth, who along with Mrs. Charles Dick, of Loudonville, a former member, were guests of the club

Mrs. David Culler, a late comer, almost stopped the show with her creation that featured a garden fork, a fly swatter and a spray can atop an upturned flower pot held at a jaunty angle by a colorful bandana streamer. Close inspection revealed numerous smaller household gadgets. Her hat won the "ridiculous" award. The big sunflower worn by Mrs. Lloyd Andrews received honorable mention.

Terming Mrs. Clarence Jones' chapeau "original" seems an understatement when you take into consideration that its baling wire band held 17 varieties of small vegetables Mrs Emery Culler, the club president, took second honors with her beany type number fashioned from a corn husk and tassle.

Mrs. Howard Darling, Park avenue west, Mansfield, wore the most beautiful hat shown, the judges decided. Made entirely of marigolds, the bright blossoms were pocked through every hole of the large colander that formed the hat's base. Mrs. Ray Muth's creation, which received honorable mention, included a profusion of garden flowers with zinnias predominantly entwined with generous sprigs of ivy.

Hostesses for the affair, Mrs. Louisa Fulton and Mrs. Louis Worley, served a Halloween supper with room appointments in keeping with that theme.

Motorist Files $200 Damage Suit

Joseph Brizzi, 144 Columbia avenue, filed a suit for $200 yesterday in common pleas court, as the result of a truck-car collision.

Named defendant was Harry S. Boyd, of Mercer, Pa. Brizzi said the accident occurred on Park avenue east at Bushnell street on July 10, 1948.

Boys Get Warning

Four Mansfield youths, who appeared in juvenile court yesterday on charges of habitual truancy, were warned about on attending school. All have previous juvenile records.

Three of them were warned that future violations might result in their being sent to the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster. The fourth was committed to Lancaster, but the sentence was suspended on condition of good behavior.

They were ordered to be home by 7:30 p. m. daily and to attend school regularly. Two of the boys are brothers, aged 13 and 14, while the others are 15 and 16.

A 17-year-old Bellville youth confessed yesterday to taking the badge and flashlight of a school patrol boy, and resisting the town marshal. He was placed on probation for the rest of the school year.

The case of a 15-year-old Bellville youth who confessed to taking a patrol boy's badge, was continued to today as his parents were unable to be in court.

P-TA Officers Take Posts

Officers of the Johnny Appleseed Parents Teachers Association were installed last night by Principal G. W. Harmony.

They are Albert H. Benson, president; Charles Young, vice president; Mrs. Donald Hartig, second vice president; Walter Wixon, treasurer, and Mrs. Lloyd Howell, secretary.

The need for the $2,250,000 school bond issue featured the talk of Harold Bruce, member of the board of education and head of the speakers' committee of the school bond issue.

Following the talk, the P-TA endorsed the bond issue and donated $25 to its support.

Teachers of the school were introduced by Principal Harmony and a red rose was presented to each on behalf of the parents.

Correction

A story in yesterday's News-Journal on the Colored Democratic rally Wednesday night listed Harold Lutz as prosecutor. Theodore Lutz is prosecutor while Harold Lutz formerly held the office. Both are candidates for the post. Theodore Lutz is a Republican and Harold Lutz a Democrat.

Boys' Village Founder Tells Club of Work With Youths

Rev. C. E. Kerr, founder of a home for orphaned and wayward boys at Smithville, spoke to the Kiwanis club yesterday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Introduced by program chairman Charles W. Fuchs, Rev Kerr gave a detailed account of the founding, operations, and the objectives of the home.

Established two years ago on a 140-acre farm just north of Wooster by charitable contributions, the farm now supports 12 boys.

Under construction reports Rev Kerr, are three cottages capable of housing from eight to 12 boys each Only two of the cottages will be used for living quarters The third is designed for a recreation and workshop combined

The boys work the farm themselves and attend school at nearby Smithville The boys are from 12 to 18 years old Rev Kerr gave up a pastorate to make the home his life work.

Health Commissioner Harry Wain will be speaker at the next Kiwanis meeting Thursday at 11 50 a. m. at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Dr. John L. Stevens will be program chairman.

Army Man Blames Sailor

Police today sought a "big-hearted" sailor who shared his hotel room Thursday night with an army sergeant and then ran out on the sergeant presumably taking $38 of the army man's money.

Sgt Ralph Zahner of Chicago, reported to police yesterday that he stopped here Wednesday night and was unable to find a hotel room Zahner said he went to the American Legion home where he met the sailor who volunteered to share his room.

Zahner said he and the sailor retired about 1 30 a m Thursday and that when he awoke he found his money missing A police check of the hotel revealed that the sailor had checked out of the room about 3 a m Thursday

'Y' Plans to Form Neighborhood Clubs

Many Mansfield boys, between the ages of nine and 12 years, are going to benefit from a new program which is being prepared now by YMCA officials.

To be known as the "Gra-Y's," the organization will be composed of neighborhood groups in various sections of the city, with meetings to be held either in private homes or at their schools, under the supervision of a new boys' work secretary, yet to be hired by the YMCA

Assisting the boys' secretary will be a Boys' work committee, which will check regularly on the club's activities, and all members of the Gra-Y's will be enrolled as YMCA members, with the privilege of participating in the regular features offered at the association's headquarters.

At the present time there are 350 grade school boys enrolled in YMCA activities, which include gym classes, swimming, hobby classes and work-shop periods, with meetings held twice each week at the "Y." The new program will add leather-craft, plastics-craft, clay-sculpturing, table-tennis, checker tournaments, and other classes to interest boys of this age.

Also, the program will include a series of educational motion pictures on outdoor camping trips, camp-craft, travelogues, safety measures in cycling, and the perennial youngsters' favorite, comic cartoon movies.

Another expanded program, now in preparation, is the Junior Hi-Y schedule for boys between twelve and fourteen years, whose membership now numbers 125. The Simpson Junior high boys meet at the "Y," while Appleseed members hold their meetings at the school. Maurice Taylor, executive secretary of the YMCA, explains there is a definite need for the organization of more Junior Hi-Y clubs, in order that no more than 15 or 18 boys be in any one club, in order that the leaders may give more individual attention to the boys.

FUTURE CARPENTERS . . . at the YMCA workshop.

SENIOR UNIT ACTIVE

The Senior Hi-Y group is one of the more active organizations in the YMCA, which at present time is working on a World Service program for the youths of other lands. They are participating in a sales campaign, receipts of which will be divided equally between the World Service program and local projects.

Some of the older boys assist in work of the younger boys, they participate in discussion periods on current events and politics, while the social side of their activities are closely linked with YWCA groups. Monday night dances, sponsored by the Hi-Y Fun Council, composed of both YMCA and YWCA members, have been attracting capacity groups of teen-age boys and girls, Taylor said.

Probably the most widely-publicized part of the YMCA is the workshop, which is open daily to both members and non-members of the association, both boys and adults. The average daily attendance at the workshop, under the direction of Robert Seitz, numbers between 35 and 40, with the Saturday morning attendance running close to 50 young boys.

"Many fathers and their sons are coming into the workshop to work together on a mutual project," Taylor said. "This is the sort of thing we would like to encourage Mansfielders to do as all the equipment and wood has been donated by various Mansfield organizations and clubs for the specific use of the boys, as well as their fathers," he continued.

Replacements for the workshop are purchased by the YMCA, which is a Red Feather agency of the Mansfield Community Chest, which this year is conducting a campaign to raise $122,635 to support its twelve dependent agencies.

Officers Named By Ohio Masons

COLUMBUS—(AP)—L. Todd McKinney of Dayton was elected grand master at the closing session of the 139th annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, Free and Accepted Masons, yesterday.

Other officers included Dillon Crist of Alliance, grand treasurer; Thomas M. Reber of Upper Sandusky, grand orator; and Ed M. Jenkins of Winona, Columbiana county, grand tyler.

Investigation Halt Is Asked

CLEVELAND—(AP)—President Truman will be asked to cancel his "disloyalty" investigation of federal employes when he comes to Cleveland Tuesday.

A committee was authorized last night to discuss it with him.

The conference was sponsored by the local branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the National Alliance of Postal Employes.

There are more than 18,000 motion picture theaters in the United States.

Electronics Official Upped War Costs To Pay Red Propagandists

NEW YORK—On September 22, while William Gailmor, the savage but always vicarious warrior against the Nazis, was out campaigning with Henry Wallace, a subcommittee of the House Committee on Un-American Activities held a session in the old House office building in Washington.

The witness was Samuel J. Novick, president of the Electronic Corporation of America.

During the war Novick employed Gailmor and Johannes Steel to preach the communist party line by radio to Americans, and had the effrontery to charge the expense to the people by adding it to the price of secret equipment which he manufactured for the army. Gailmor is an alias for Margolis, Steel is an alias for Stahl. Steel, formerly Stahl, came here as a German refugee from Adolf Hitler after a period of participation in or collaboration with the Nazi movement.

The purpose of this examination was to show that Novick had written false statements to the immigration and naturalization service in 1937 in consequence of which a Russian spy known as Arthur Adams was admitted as as an immigrant. Novick lied repeatedly regarding the length and nature of his acquantance with Adams, He professed not to remember many contributions which he had made to organizations that are named as Communist fronts on the official roster of the committee and the Department of justice.

The committee finally had cornered Novick and made him admit that:

He did vouch for Arthur Adams as an old and trusted employe of one of his many active and "inactive" corporations.

He admitted that he had employed Carl Bristol notorious among those exposed by the congressional inquiries, who was employed also by the communist publication, The New Masses. He admitted too, after much squirming that he had given money to The New Masses but denied that he knew it was a Communist paper.

When Novick had finished, Mr. McDowell read him a warning which has been in the minds of many sad, baffled, shocked Americans of the kind that Henry Wallace lumps together as the common man.

"Do you know that would happen to New York City if an atomic bomb were dropped in Central Park"? McDowell asked.

"A half or a quarter of the city would be wiped out," Novick said.

"After the testimony we have had here," McDowell said, "it appears to me, Mr. Novick, that if the bomb should be dropped in the United States, one man who holds American citizenship would be more responsible than any other person. That would be Samuel Novick, for bring into this country, through what appears to me to be a lie to the United States government, a Soviet agent.

Novick then implored the committee not to expose Electronic Corporation of America to "Adverse publicity." He wasn't concerned about his financial interests or his profits, But his great heart was wrung with anxiety about his hundreds of employes, He wanted to protect them.

"As a member of Congress" Mr. McDowell replied, "I am concerned about the safety and security of 140 million American people, and our government.

"You were clever enough to make an awful lot of money. But not clever enough to know you were completely surrounded by conspirators or agents of a country that will become a deadly enemy of America, And then you cry for two or three hundred employes. The witness is dismissed."

County GOP Members To Hear Dewey

Delegation Plans Trip to Cleveland

Richland county Republicans will be represented at a Cleveland rally Wednesday night when Governor Thomas E. Dewey, the GOP nominee for president, makes a major address.

Ralph M. Hardy, county executive committee chairman, said between 50 and 60 persons from Richland county are expected to attend the rally. Hardy said the group would make the trip in buses.

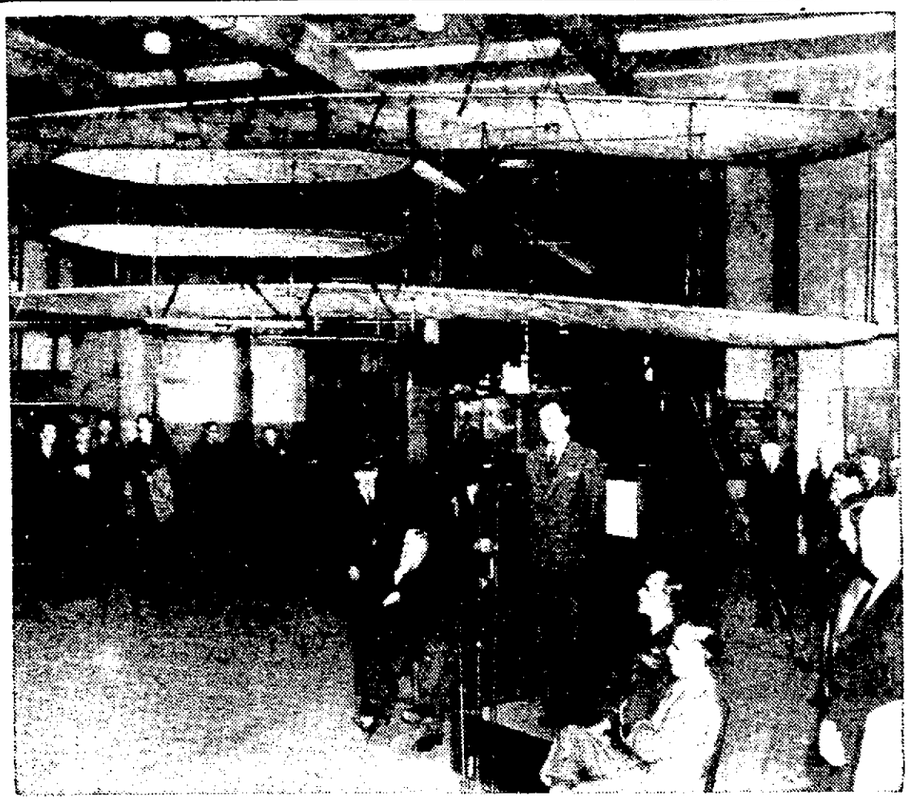
The Richland county Republican caravan will leave about 4 p. m. for the trip, Hardy said, and reservations can be made at Republican headquarters in the old Majestic theater building on North Walnut street. The phone number is 3789-6.

Another speaker has been added for a major Republican rally in Shelby Monday night, James V. Will, central committee chairman, announced.

He is State Senator Ralph Winter, of Lodi, who is running for reelection to the state legislature.

Other speakers include Congressman J. Harry McGregor, and Huntington Carlile, Columbus attorney, and a member of the Young Men's Republican club. County Republican candidates will appear on the program.

The rally will begin at 8 p. m. in the Shelby high school auditorium. McGregor, the principal speaker, seeks reelection to Congress from this district.



COMING HOME—The Wright brothers' Kitty Hawk plane, which stayed in the air 12 seconds 45 years ago and thus introduced man to the realm of birds, is accepted by L. Satterthwaite (on rostrum), Civil Air attache at the U. S. embassy in London, on its being returned by London's Kensington Science museum. The late Orville Wright lent the plane to the museum many years ago. Now it will be brought back to the United States according to his wish, to be housed in the Smithsonian Institution. It leaves England Nov. 6, 45th anniversary of the first airplane flight of the Wright brothers.

Up and Down the Street . . .

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

Frank J. May, former Mansfield fire chief, is spending today, his birthday, out of town. He will be the honored guest at a dinner at his home tomorrow night.

May was with the Mansfield fire department for 23 years prior to his retirement in 1936. He served as fire chief for three years.

He is a member of the Masonic order, Baku Grotto, and St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church. His hobby is hunting. He is married and lives at 178 Sturges avenue.

★

SCENE CHANGING—

The fodder shocks and pumpkins which used to be a part of the autumn scene in Richland county are becoming scarcer every year. While most corn was cut by hand and shocked a few years ago, much of it now is harvested with mechanical pickers which leave the stalks standing in the fields for livestock. That process eliminates the hand work in cutting corn and the shredding or hand-husking operations. Pumpkins, once popular as feed for cattle, are losing their popularity. Besides, the kiddies can buy paper or plastic pumpkin faces for Halloween easier than they can go to the field for a pumpkin and prepare it. But some of the oldsters will say it's not as much fun that way.

STORK ON HOLIDAY—

The stork must be taking a vacation after his heavy schedule of the past few weeks. General hospital reported no births in the 24-hour period ended at 8 a. m. today. The manager of Todd's Jewelry store, which opened yesterday, had announced that the store would give a diamond ring to any Mansfield baby born during the opening hours of noon to 9 p. m. yesterday. If the rings are to be delivered, the store will have to find some babies who were born at home yesterday.

Grade Building Crowded

Work to Start On New Structure

Crowded conditions in the Plymouth school has forced school officials to obtain use of the Sunday school room of the Plymouth Lutheran church for classes. Authorization to use the room was given yesterday by a state building inspector after he inspected the church building.

Use of the room will begin in about 10 days or two weeks, after fluorescent lighting and a stair railing are installed, in accordance with the inspector's instructions.

Supt. of Plymouth Schools P. I. Van Brunt said 30 pupils would use the Sunday school room. They will be first and second grade pupils. A new teacher will be hired.

He said that at present there are 49 pupils in the first grade under one teacher and 46 in the second, under one teacher.

The high school is used for both elementary and high school classes and there are 430 pupils in the school, which was designed to handle 250 pupils, Van Brunt said.

NEW BUILDING PLANNED

The new room at the church will be used until the end of the school year. School officials hope that a new elementary school on West Broadway can be completed by the start of school next fall.

Construction of the four-room school is expected to begin this week or next. The contractor is the Richards Construction company of Willard.

The new four-room school, however, will be expanded into a six-room school, if a $48,000 bond issue proposal passes in November. The school board has $77,000 and about $8,000 or $10,000 in materials. To expand the proposed school to six rooms will require $133,000, Van Brunt said.

Two other school districts have to use rooms outside schools because of crowded conditions.

The Lincoln Heights school sends some of its pupils to the Brethren church basement on Grace street, while two rooms of the Township hall are used in Bellville.

Directors Meet Here

Seven members of the Studebaker corporation's board of directors held their first regular monthly meeting at the Empire Steel plant today since taking over the plant as a subsidiary nearly a year ago.

Directors met in Empire's offices during the morning and were taken on a tour of the plant during the afternoon by Donald W. Frease, Empire's president.

Members of the board attending were: John F. Cotter of South Bend, Ind.; Allan S. Lehman, Maurice T. Moore, E. J. Quintal and L. Z. Morris Strauss, all of New York City; H. S. Vance, chairman of the board, of South Bend, and John H. Watson jr., of Cleveland.

In addition to the members of the board, P. O. Peterson, vice president in charge of operations at Studebaker, and Paul M. Clark, secretary of the corporation, attended.

Monthly meetings of the board are usually held in South Bend where the corporation's main plant is located. Today's meeting was the second held away from South Bend this year. The first was held in Los Angeles where the company has a large assembly plant.

Board to Study Welfare Needs

The Richland county Child Welfare board will meet today at 5 p. m. at the Children's Home to discuss a report on child welfare needs in the county, recently made by the state.

Members said that now that they have had the opportunity to study the report individually, they would discuss the findings and make recommendations to the county commissioners.

City Fights Leaves With Old Equipment

By SHELDON BINN

The leaves are falling, just as they have since time began—and the city is picking them up with a technique almost as old!

Eighteen men, armed with such modern leaf-gathering devices as brooms and shovels are trying desperately to keep the city's 100-odd miles of street clean.

E. W. Davis, street superintendent, explained that six trucks, with three-man crews, have started the tedious task of gathering the leaves that started falling rapidly Monday after the temperature dropped to 24 degrees.

"Our biggest job is to keep the storm sewer inlets clear during rain storms. We had a very difficult time Sunday when the rain carried leaves into the inlets and plugged them up, keeping the water out of the sewers," Davis said.

Davis said the crews would be kept busy until the first snow flies because "we got the slowest process there is for picking up leaves."

"In the first place, it is obvious that the amount of leaves that can be gathered, even by men using broom and shovel method, is limited.

"Furthermore, as the leaves cannot be packed down in the trucks, a truckload of leaves is mostly air."

SWEEPER IMPRACTICAL

He pointed out that the city has a sweeper, but it is not practical to use for leaves.

"We do have a special leaf rack attachment, which is used to stack leaves in piles for loading, but we need parts for it. I've ordered them, but they are in short supply and have not arrived yet," Davis explained.

"What we really need is something like the Sno-Go, a machine which picks up leaves with a brush-vacuum cleaner device and impacts them in the trucks, thus cutting down on the number of trips per truck and doing the work of dozens of men with brooms and shovels," the street superintendent said.

He pointed out that the device is versatile. It can be used as a snow plow in the winter, operating much faster than ordinary plows and front-end loaders.

But as much as the city needs a new method for picking up leaves and cleaning snow off the streets, apparently the funds aren't available.

The street department was forced to suspend dig-up repair operations last week because of a shortage of funds and the possibility of finding the money for a leaf and snow machine is remote.

However, it is contended that the purchase of such a machine as the Sno-Go would be economical in the long run, cutting down on labor and gasoline bills.

Windows Smashed

Reports of widespread property damage by Halloween vandals reached the police and sheriff last night and today.

Mrs. Russell Rinehart, Grimes-Oswalt road, west of Franklin church, told deputies that vandals threw a claw hammer through a second-floor window into a bedroom. Mrs. Rinehart said she was away from her home at the time and that the vandals also threw glass canning jars about the yard, breaking them.

At 8:45 p. m., yesterday, O. P. Vaughn, 240 Sixth avenue, reported to deputies that boys were throwing vegetables on his porch. Deputies searched the neighborhood but were unable to locate the vandals.

Also reported yesterday was the breaking of a door to the Muzzle-Loader Rifle club at the Grimes gravel pit on the Airport-Adario road. Mrs. Elizabeth Grimes, owner of the land, said the door had been broken down but nothing was found missing.

Sheriff's deputies last night apprehended several boys who were throwing stones at the state highway garage, U.S. Route 30-N. The boys were warned and sent home after it was found they had caused no damage.

Police got a report of broken windows in a new house at East Townview circle and Ruth avenue last night. At 7:30 p. m. yesterday, Mrs. Joseph Saprano, 276 Patton avenue, reported boys breaking street lights in the neighborhood.

Gives Tips On Teaching

Vining Addresses Instructors

Eighty-two members attended the first meeting of the Council of Mathematics Teachers at John Simpson junior high school last night.

Sam Vining, Mansfield sales expert, spoke to the group on "Straight Lines and Curlicues." He told the teachers how they could improve methods of teaching mathematics.

Vining said that a knowlege of mathematics has little to do with teaching it. He said that teachers must let the students know what a knowledge of mathematics can do for them. Teachers should have as their goal the passing on of their knowledge, he added.

Vining told the group that the object of the meetings was not to discover new things, but to remind themselves of what they already know.

He said teachers should not overlook the lighter side, but should regard each new student as a new "fun" project. He told the teachers to build up pride in students and parents.

At the close of the business meeting, conducted by Ralph Juniper, president, a lunch was served by the Mothers' club of Prospect school. Mrs. William P. Droz, president of the club, was in charge.

Membership in the council is open to teachers, parents, and other interested persons.

Members from Ashland, Lucas, and Ontario attended last night.

Electronics Official Upped War Costs To Pay Red Propagandists

NEW YORK—On September 22, while William Gailmor, the savage but always vicarious warrior against the Nazis, was out campaigning with Henry Wallace, a subcommittee of the House Committee on Un-American Activities held a session in the old House office building in Washington.

The witness was Samuel J. Novick, president of the Electronic Corporation of America.

During the war Novick employed Gailmor and Johannes Steel to preach the communist party line by radio to Americans, and had the effrontery to charge the expense to the people by adding it to the price of secret equipment which he manufactured for the army. Gailmor is an alias for Margolis, Steel is an alias for Stahl. Steel, formerly Stahl, came here as a German refugee from Adolf Hitler after a period of participation in or collaboration with the Nazi movement.

The purpose of this examination was to show that Novick had written false statements to the immigration and naturalization service in 1937 in consequence of which a Russian spy known as Arthur Adams was admitted as as an immigrant. Novick lied repeatedly regarding the length and nature of his acquantance with Adams. He professed not to remember many contributions which he had made to organizations that are named as Communist fronts on the official roster of the committee and the Department of justice.

The committee finally had cornered Novick and made him admit that:

He did vouch for Arthur Adams as an old and trusted employe of one of his many active and "inactive" corporations.

He admitted that he had employed Carl Bristol notorious among those exposed by the congressional inquiries, who was employed also by the communist publication, The New Masses. He admitted too, after much squirming that he had given money to The New Masses but denied that he knew it was a Communist paper.

When Novick had finished, Mr. McDowell read him a warning which has been in the minds of many sad, baffled, shocked Americans of the kind that Henry Wallace lumps together as the common man.

"Do you know that would happen to New York City if an atomic bomb were dropped in Central Park"? McDowell asked.

"A half or a quarter of the city would be wiped out," Novick said.

"After the testimony we have had here," McDowell said, "it appears to me, Mr. Novick, that if the bomb should be dropped in the United States, one man who holds American citizenship would be more responsible than any other person. That would be Samuel Novick, for bring into this country, through what appears to me to be a lie to the United States government, a Soviet agent.

Novick then implored the committee not to expose Electronic Corporation of America to "Adverse publicity." He wasn't concerned about his financial interests or his profits, But his great heart was wrung with anxiety about his hundreds of employes, He wanted to protect them.

"As a member of Congress," Mr. McDowell replied, "I am concerned about the safety and security of 140 million American people, and our government.

"You were clever enough to make an awful lot of money. But not clever enough to know you were completely surrounded by conspirators or agents of a country that will become a deadly enemy of America. And then you cry for two or three hundred employes. The witness is dismissed."

County GOP Members To Hear Dewey

Delegation Plans Trip to Cleveland

Richland county Republicans will be represented at a Cleveland rally Wednesday night when Governor Thomas E. Dewey, the GOP nominee for president, makes a major address.

Ralph M. Hardy, county executive committee chairman, said between 50 and 60 persons from Richland county are expected to attend the rally. Hardy said the group would make the trip in buses.

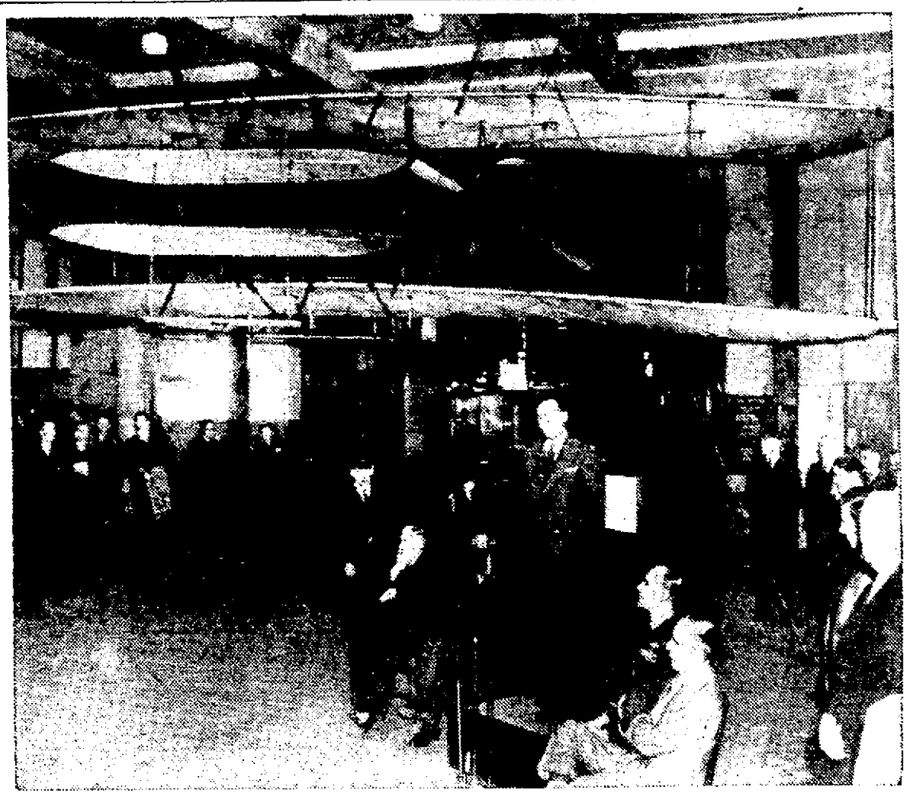
The Richland county Republican caravan will leave about 4 p. m. for the trip, Hardy said, and reservations can be made at Republican headquarters in the old Majestic theater building on North Walnut street. The phone number is 3789-6.

Another speaker has been added for a major Republican rally in Shelby Monday night, James V. Will, central committee chairman, announced.

He is State Senator Ralph Winter, of Lodi, who is running for reelection to the state legislature.

Other speakers include Congressman J. Harry McGregor, and Huntington Carlile, Columbus attorney, and a member of the Young Men's Republican club. County Republican candidates will appear on the program.

The rally will begin at 8 p. m. in the Shelby high school auditorium. McGregor, the principal speaker, seeks reelection to Congress from this district.



COMING HOME—The Wright brothers' Kitty Hawk plane, which stayed in the air 12 seconds 45 years ago and thus introduced man to the realm of birds, is accepted by L. Satterthwaite (on rostrum), Civil Air attache at the U. S. embassy in London, on its being returned by London's Kensington Science museum. The late Orville Wright lent the plane to the museum many years ago. Now it will be brought back to the United States according to his wish, to be housed in the Smithsonian Institution. It leaves England Nov. 6, 45th anniversary of the first airplane flight of the Wright brothers.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

Frank J. May, former Mansfield fire chief, is spending today, his birthday, out of town. He will be the honored guest at a dinner at his home tomorrow night.

May was with the Mansfield fire department for 23 years prior to his retirement in 1936. He served as fire chief for three years.

He is a member of the Masonic order, Baku Grotto, and St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church. His hobby is hunting. He is married and lives at 178 Sturges avenue.

SCENE CHANGING—

The fodder shocks and pumpkins which used to be a part of the autumn scene in Richland county are becoming scarcer every year. While most corn was cut by hand and shocked a few years ago, much of it now is harvested with mechanical pickers which leave the stalks standing in the fields for livestock. That process eliminates the hand work in cutting corn and the shredding or hand-husking operations. Pumpkins, once popular as feed for catile, are losing their popularity. Besides, the kiddies can buy paper or plastic pumpkin faces for Halloween easier than they can go to the field for a pumpkin and prepare it. But some of the oldsters will say it's not as much fun that way.

STORK ON HOLIDAY—

The stork must be taking a vacation after his heavy schedule of the past few weeks. General hospital reported no births in the 24-hour period ended at 8 a. m. today. The manager of Todd's Jewelry store, which opened yesterday, had announced that the store would give a diamond ring to any Mansfield baby born during the opening hours of noon to 9 p. m. yesterday. If the rings are to be delivered, the store will have to find some babies who were born at home yesterday.

Grade Building Crowded

Work to Start On New Structure

Crowded conditions in the Plymouth school has forced school officials to obtain use of the Sunday school room of the Plymouth Lutheran church for classes. Authorization to use the room was given yesterday by a state building inspector after he inspected the church building.

Use of the room will begin in about 10 days or two weeks, after fluorescent lighting and a stair railing are installed, in accordance with the inspector's instructions.

Supt. of Plymouth Schools P. I. Van Brunt said 30 pupils would use the Sunday school room. They will be first and second grade pupils. A new teacher will be hired.

He said that at present there are 49 pupils in the first grade under one teacher and 46 in the second, under one teacher.

The high school is used for both elementary and high school classes and there are 430 pupils in the school, which was designed to handle 250 pupils, Van Brunt said.

NEW BUILDING PLANNED

The new room at the church will be used until the end of the school year. School officials hope that a new elementary school on West Broadway can be completed by the start of school next fall.

Construction of the four-room school is expected to begin this week or next. The contractor is the Richards Construction company of Willard.

The new four-room school, however, will be expanded into a six-room school, if a $48,000 bond issue proposal passes in November. The school board has $77,000 and about $8,000 or $10,000 in materials. To expand the proposed school to six rooms will require $133,000, Van Brunt said.

Two other school districts have to use rooms outside schools because of crowded conditions.

The Lincoln Heights school sends some of its pupils to the Brethren church basement on Grace street, while two rooms of the Township hall are used in Bellville.

Seven members of the Studebaker corporation's board of directors held their first regular monthly meeting at the Empire Steel plant today since taking over the plant as a subsidiary nearly a year ago.

Directors met in Empire's offices during the morning and were taken on a tour of the plant during the afternoon by Donald W. Frease, Empire's president.

Members of the board attending were: John F. Cotter of South Bend, Ind.; Allan S. Lehman, Maurice T. Moore, E. J. Quintal and L. Z. Morris Strauss, all of New York City; H. S. Vance, chairman of the board, of South Bend, and John H. Watson jr., of Cleveland.

In addition to the members of the board, P. O. Peterson, vice president in charge of operations at Studebaker, and Paul M. Clark, secretary of the corporation, attended.

Monthly meetings of the board are usually held in South Bend where the corporation's main plant is located. Today's meeting was the second held away from South Bend this year. The first was held in Los Angeles where the company has a large assembly plant.

City Fights Leaves With Old Equipment

By SHELDON BINN

The leaves are falling, just as they have since time began—and the city is picking them up with a technique almost as old!

Eighteen men, armed with such modern leaf gathering devices as brooms and shovels are trying desperately to keep the city's 100-odd miles of street clean.

E. W. Davis, street superintendent, explained that six trucks, with three-man crews, have started the tedious task of gathering the leaves that started falling rapidly Monday after the temperature dropped to 24 degrees.

"Our biggest job is to keep the storm sewer inlets clear during rain storms. We had a very difficult time Sunday when the rain carried leaves into the inlets and plugged them up, keeping the water out of the sewers," Davis said.

Davis said the crews would be kept busy until the first snow flies because "we got the slowest process there is for picking up leaves."

"In the first place, it is obvious that the amount of leaves that can be gathered, even by men using broom and shovel method, is limited.

"Furthermore, as the leaves cannot be packed down in the trucks, a truckload of leaves is mostly air."

SWEEPER IMPRACTICAL

He pointed out that the city has a sweeper, but it is not practital to use for leaves.

"We do have a special leaf rack attachment, which is used to stack leaves in piles for loading, but we need parts for it. I've ordered them, but they are in short supply and have not arrived yet," Davis explained.

"What we really need is something like the Sno-Go, a machine which picks up leaves with a brush-vacuum cleaner device and impacts them in the trucks, thus cutting down on the number of trips per truck and doing the work of dozens of men with brooms and shovels," the street superintendent said.

He pointed out that the device is versatile. It can be used as a snow plow in the winter, operating much faster than ordinary plows and front-end loaders.

But as much as the city needs a new method for picking up leaves and cleaning snow off the streets, apparently the funds aren't available.

The street department was forced to suspend dig-up repair operations last week because of a shortage of funds and the possibility of finding the money for a leaf and snow machine is remote.

However, it is contended that the purchase of such a machine as the Sno-Go would be economical in the long run, cutting down on labor and gasoline bills.

Windows Smashed

Reports of widespread property damage by Halloween vandals reached the police and sheriff last night and today.

Mrs. Russell Rinehart, Grimes-Oswalt road, west of Franklin church, told deputies that vandals threw a claw hammer through a second-floor window into a bedroom. Mrs. Rinehart said she was away from her home at the time and that the vandals also threw glass canning jars about the yard, breaking them.

At 8:45 p. m., yesterday, O. P. Vaughn, 240 Sixth avenue, reported to deputies that boys were throwing vegetables on his porch. Deputies searched the neighborhood but were unable to locate the vandals.

Also reported yesterday was the breaking of a door to the Muzzle-Loader Rifle club at the Grimes gravel pit on the Airport-Adario road. Mrs. Elizabeth Grimes, owner of the land, said the door had been broken down but nothing was found missing.

Sheriff's deputies last night apprehended several boys who were throwing stones at the state highway garage, U.S. Route 30-N. The boys were warned and sent home after it was found they had caused no damage.

Police got a report of broken windows in a new house at East Townview circle and Ruth avenue last night. At 7:30 p. m. yesterday, Mrs. Joseph Saprano, 276 Patton avenue, reported boys breaking street lights in the neighborhood.

Gives Tips On Teaching

Vining Addresses Instructors

Eighty-two members attended the first meeting of the Council of Mathematics Teachers at John Simpson junior high school last night.

Sam Vining, Mansfield sales expert, spoke to the group on "Straight Lines and Curlicues." He told the teachers how they could improve methods of teaching mathematics.

Vining said that a knowlege of mathematics has little to do with teaching it. He said that teachers must let the students know what a knowledge of mathematics can do for them. Teachers should have as their goal the passing on of their knowledge, he added.

Vining told the group that the object of the meetings was not to discover new things, but to remind themselves of what they already know.

He said teachers should not overlook the lighter side, but should regard each new student as a new "fun" project. He told the teachers to build up pride in students and parents.

At the close of the business meeting, conducted by Ralph Juniper, president, a lunch was served by the Mothers' club of Prospect school. Mrs. William P. Droz, president of the club, was in charge.

Membership in the council is open to teachers, parents, and other interested persons.

Members from Ashland, Lucas, and Ontario attended last night.

Tigers and Tygers Battle In 'Big' Game

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

THIS FOOTBALL forecasting racket has got them all beat. . . . We've relied on that time-honored prognostication stogie for lo these many years. . . . But this time we got to wondering a bit . . . It seems that the Massillon-Mansfield grid game has made the hunk of hemp act up . . . The smoke rings kept coming out in the form of a question mark . . So borrowing an idea from Lil' Abner we decided to consult Ole Man Mose . . . Him we couldn't find . . . As a last resort, we dug deep into one of our barracks bag and came up with a pot given up some years ago by a mysterious GI from the hills of Kaintuck . . . He told us that this pot contained a witch's brew which was most potent near the time of Halloween . . . Some lit a small fire, warmed up the brew and dipped in the stogie . . . This time the rings said, Massillon by 13 . . . After all of this rigamarole, we don't know whether to believe it or not but that's the prediction the Stuffer is trying to foist off on his public . . . The other high school game locally is a mite easier to pick . . . We have that one, Mt. Vernon by four touchdowns . . . Last week, the stogie was right 62 times, wrong 21 and three were ties . . . Making 243, 82 and 15 for the season . . . Now to the college fields of pigskin battle.

State's Top Tilt Rated As Toss Up

Mansfield will reign as the scholastic football capital of Ohio tonight when the vaunted aggregations of Senior high and Massillon Washington high clash on the Arlin field turf.

Game time in the do-or-die battle is listed for 8 p. m. Both of the gridiron juggernauts are primed for the conflict which may go a long way towards determining the Ohio champion of 1948. True, each of the teams has been beaten once but what happens from here on out will be the deciding factor.

Latest football rankings have both clubs in the top ten of the state. A loss would drop either from title consideration.

Massillon got off to a fine start, mowing down four opponents before losing to Alliance last Friday, 14 to 0. Before that encounter the Tigers had been rated as Ohio's best. Mansfield athletic officials believe that Massillon may have been looking past Alliance at the Tygers, causing the surprise defeat.

The local edition of Tygers have not been outstanding but they reached the top ten by steady victories. Mansfield lost its opener to Whiting, Ind., and has won four in a row from Ohio teams. The Tygers reached the first ten two weeks ago by smashing Portsmouth, 33 to 0.

Statistics and veteran material point to a close game, although several of the Tygers will be held together by adhesive tape. Only one of the injuries may result in a change in the regular starting lineup.

Bernie Weaver, the big end, has assorted aches and pains and spent most of the day under a heat lamp. In the event Weaver can't go, lanky Jack Bargahiser will hold down the flanker position. Bargahiser had seen plenty of action in the last three games and is a fine pass receiver.

RUSSELL BACK

George "Monk" Russell, regular center in 1947, worked out for the first time this week and will spell Walt Maurer as offensive center. Little Tommy Tucker appears in better condition and will alternate with Lou Gregorio at right half.

Once again Harry Osbun and Joe Miller will team up as line backers. Osbun was the leading Tyger leather-lugger in 1947 but has been used almost exclusively on defense this season.

Augie Morningstar, Tyger coach, announced this morning that Bob Bush, 175-pound junior tackle, may be out for the remainder of the season. Bush saw quite a bit of relief action this fall. He suffered a knee injury during a scrimmage session.

Approached on his ideas of the outcome of tonight's game, Morningstar was non-commital. He did say, however, "We're hoping for a dry night. The game will be more than a battle between the teams—it will be a battle between the two towns as well."

Massillon's crew is reported in its best condition of the season. All week the Tigers have been drilling on stopping a commodity they know as MJT. That would mean Miller, Jenkins and Tucker, the three Tyger scoring threats. What seems to worry the Tigers most is that any of the three can score from anyplace on the field.

Mansfield	Pos.	Massillon
Carver (137)	LE	(168) Slicker
T. Weaver (175)	LT	(182) Krisher
Tipper (155)	LG	(158) Morrow
Maurer (153)	C	(172) McVey

Joe Miller (180)	LH	(158) Crable
Tucker (140)	RH	(182) Johnson
Jenkins (175)	FB	(142) Brown

Crestline Given 'Chance' Against Powerful Redmen

Bucyrus' mighty Redmen will go after their fifth Northern Ohio league victory tonight when they are host to Crestline—rated as the team most likely to halt their march to an undefeated season.

Not that Crestline is figured to be on a par with the Redmen, but it is at least rated a chance. To halt Bucyrus would mean to bottle up Bill Kibler, the league's leading scorer and No. 2 point-getter in the state. He has crossed enemy goal lines 18 times in loop play, ten on touchdowns and eight on extra points. Then there is his twin brother, Dick, and Fullback Bob Dutcher, both in the first six scorers in the loop.

Second place Upper Sandusky, only team besides Crestline with a chance of ousting Bucyrus from the top, is host to weak Galion, while Norwalk plays at Willard and Shelby attempts a comeback at Bellevue.

City Title Game Tickets Now on Sale

Tickets for next Wednesday's Johnny Appleseed-John Simpson city championship football game went on sale yesterday through students of the two schools.

Advance ticket sales are made independently by the two junior high schools, while proceeds at the gate on game night are divided.

General admission seats good for any part of Arlin field are going for 75 cents to adults, 50 cents to high school and junior high students. Children's admission is 35 cents. There will be no reserved seats.

A crowd upwards of 5,000 persons is expected for the contest, climax of the season for both teams. Appleseed is undefeated in seven games while Simpson has won two and lost three.

Bands of both schools will perform.

Boudreau Slated For Illini Honors

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. —(AP)— Lou Boudreau, manager-shortstop of the World Champion Cleveland Indians, was scheduled to arrive here today in a private railroad car to be honored by his alma mater, the University of Illinois.

Tonight Boudreau will attend the Illinois torchlight pep rally for the Purdue game tomorrow. Then he will go to the annual "I" men's banquet.

Circleville Wins 6th Game In Row

CIRCLEVILLE —(INS)— Circleville high school won its pumpkin show week football game by snowing under Wilmington high, 34-13, for its sixth straight win this season and its second in the Southwestern Ohio league.

Some 4,500 watched Sandy Hill, Circleville junior, pace the win. Hill now has made 14 touchdowns this season, passed for eight others, and kicked 17 extra points.

Undefeated Teams Play Non-Loop Tilts

This area's two undefeated Class B football teams—Bellville and Loudonville—go after their sixth victories tonight on foreign soil.

Neither team has much chance of being upset.

Coach Harry Regula's Bellville Blue Jays travel to Mt. Gilead to meet an "in and out" opponent which has dropped three of five games. One of the three losses was a 13-6 decision to Danville, a team which Bellville blasted 33-0.

Loudonville, a 19-6 victor over Madison last week, faces Rittman, a team which Madison walloped, 32-19.

Both Loudonville and Bellville are members of the Mohican league but are taking time off from league competition this week.

Taylor Suspended For 'Poor' Fight

NEW YORK — (AP) — Heavyweight Roy Taylor, who was stopped in the second round by Tami Mauriello last Tuesday night, has been suspended by the New York State Athletic commission.

Col. Edvard Eagan said the New York fighter had been set down for an "unsatisfactory performance" in the fight. Taylor, 182½, was stopped by Mauriello, 210, of New York in the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout at Park Arena.

Cleveland Barons Win Streak Ends

(By United Press)

Hockey's greatest unbeaten streak was at an end today after the Cleveland Barons suffered their first loss in '32 starts last night at the hands of the Pittsburgh Hornets.

Cleveland's string of 31, 27 of which carried over from last season, was fractured by a hard-cracking Pittsburgh team, 5 to 3, last night before an unbelieving crowd of 8,081 fans at Cleveland Arena.

One Unbeaten Team Will Fall Tomorrow

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK—(UP)—At least one of the nation's 11 major unbeaten football powers will have to fall Saturday and Army's crashing Cadets were rated a favorite today to do the job on Cornell.

It's the only clash of the week matching big-time perfect record elevens and the sudden rise of Cornell's Big Red to gridiron prominence makes it a fit companion piece to the Big Nine showdown between Michigan and Minnesota at the head of a weekend schedule including 12 intersectional games.

Michigan's magicians, who have removed themselves from the post-season picture, were installed as favorite to snuff out Minnesota's dwindling Rose bowl hopes and retain the little brown jug in the process.

ONLY UNDERDOG

Cornell was the only unbeaten team rated as an underdog this weekend.

Penn State (3-0) was held over Michigan State, Pennsylvania (3-0) over Navy, North Carolina (4-0) over Louisiana State, Notre Dame (4-0) over Iowa, Georgia Tech (4-0) over Florida, California (5-0) over Washington and Nevada (4-0) was expected to bounce Tulsa.

Michigan (4-0) also belongs in the unbeaten few and so does Clemson (4-0) which defeated South Carolina yesterday, 13 to 7.

If Minnesota can swing an upset, the Big Nine race would be well scrambled and possibility of a three-way tie would exist between Michigan, Northwestern and Minnesota. Northwestern, beaten by Michigan but victor over Minnesota, risks nothing in its Rose bowl drive by playing a non-conference game with Syracuse, in which the Big Nine team is a top-heavy favorite.

Purdue was the choice at Illinois and Ohio State was favored over Wisconsin at Columbus, in other conference games.

HAS FULL CARD

The Pacific coast has a full schedule of five conference games in which California and Oregon, unbeaten in the league and still eligible for the Rose bowl, dominate the scene. Oregon is host to Washington State and the California-Washington game is scheduled at California. Oregon and California do not meet this season.

Southern California, a favorite, plays at Stanford, Oregon State is an underdog at UCLA and Montana plays at Idaho.

All three southeastern conference teams heading the title race are Saturday favorites. Georgia Tech, with three conference victories, plays Florida at Atlanta, Mississippi State is at Alabama and Tulane plays Auburn.

Outside the league, Tennessee plays Tennessee Tech, Mississippi was a favorite over Boston college at Memphis and Georgia was chosen at Miami.

The southern conference is comparatively quiet with once-tied Duke the only upper crust team meeting a conference foe. Duke was favored to crush Virginia Tech which hasn't scored a point this season. Citadel plays at Furman and Maryland at George Washington in other conference tests.

Baylor was a slight favorite over Texas A. and M. and Texas was handed a bulge over Rice. Plenty of interest centers on Oklahoma at Texas Christian and Santa Clara at Southern Methodist.

Kansas was favored to whip Nebraska. Colorado was favored over Kansas State and Missouri was a choice over Iowa State.

Tonight Fordham was given the nod at Georgetown, New York U. at Boston U., Wayne at Detroit, Georgia at Miami, North Carolina State at Chattanooga, and Omaha at Colorado State.

Tomorrow: Vanderbile at Yale, Indiana at Pitt, Michigan State at Penn State, William & Mary at St. Bonaventure, Santa Clara at S. M. U., Nevada at Tulsa, Temple at Oklahoma A. and M., Syracuse at Northwestern, Kentucky at Marquette, L. S. U. at North Carolina, Boston College vs Mississippi at Memphis, St. Mary's at Denver.

Badger Students Squarely Behind Grid Coach Harry

MADISON, Wis.—(U.P.)—A petition calling for a referendum of student opinion on football Coach Harry Stuhldreher still circulated today, but a large portion of the University of Wisconsin student body was solidly behind the coaching staff and the team.

About 2,000 students, led by the university band, paraded to the practice field yesterday to demonstrate its support of Stuhldreher and his squad.

Stuhldreher told the crowd, "I thank you a thousand times," and team Captain Clarence Self said, "we're going to beat Ohio State Saturday."

Fusari In Line For Welter Bout

JERSEY CITY —(INS)— Charley Fusari, of Irvington, N. J., was in line for a shot at Ray Robinson's welterweight title today.

Fusari scored a technical knockout over Tippy Larkin, Garfield, N. J., veteran, in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout before 10,000 fans at Jersey City Armory last night.

Rams Shoot For Another Crowd Mark

Football attendance records which are falling like snow in January these days in Mansfield may take another beating tomorrow night.

Madison's Ram field bulged at the seams as a record 2,850 saw last week's homecoming game, and present indications are that tomorrow night's Mt. Vernon tilt may see another record broken.

Mt. Vernon is rated No. 10 in the state and has had little trouble in rolling over its first five opponents. The Rams, on the other hand, took their first whipping in 11 games last week and are fired up for the contest.

Coach Ennis Walker has yet made no announcement of his lineup but indicated there may be a change or two from the starters of other games. Except for End Ed Locke, who replaced the injured Russell Glenn, the Rams have started the same lineup in all of their previous games. Changes in both the line and backfield may be made tomorrow, however.

Every day there are about 720 fires in homes.

Brown to Quit Browns—'Reliable Source'

By FRITZ HOWELL
(Ohio AP Sports Editor)

CLEVELAND — One of the richest pro football jobs in the country—coaching the Cleveland Browns of the All-America conference—will be the object of a wide open race for 1949.

Although Paul E. Brown, present coach and general manager of the loop champions hasn't confirmed it, it's a cinch he'll leave the professional game and return to collegiate football.

A source as close to Brown as his own vest made that plain yesterday when he said:

"If Paul is offered a worthwhile intercollegiate coaching job, he will make a move after this season. And that 'worthwhile' offer need not be in terms of money. He'll take the first job that's worthy of his talents."

Just who might take over the reins of the Browns, with whom "precision Paul" has won two straight championships and has rolled up seven straight victories this season, is as much a question as to where Brown will next direct a team.

The continual bickering between the All-America conference and the National Football league, plus their inability to get together on the draft and a post-season series, were given as the big reasons Brown wants to get out of the play-for-pay game.

Brown has a five-year contract, with two years to go, calling for at least $25,000 annually, plus a share of the gate, but the spokesman said:

"Paul never reckoned on getting into a football war, and has no stomach for such things. He's not a muscle man with the idea of running someone out of business.

"Brown is a football coach, probably the best technician in the country. He is proud of his teams, but he doesn't like this eternal conflict between his league and the National.

"Both conferences are feeling the effects of the war. The fight is hurting everyone, not only because of the increased player salaries due to the bidding for talent, but because of the decreased public interest due to the lack of an over-all champion.

"Both sides are getting sick of the war, naturally. The Browns are out-drawing everyone, but aren't doing too well financially. Look at the Chicago Bears. Why, George Halas has $60,000 tied up in T-quarterbacks alone. No one can pay that much for talent for one position and come out anywhere near even."

Coach Brown, when asked about the report that he would desert the professionals and return to the collegiate field, answered:

"Mr. McBride has been awfully good to me here." He referred to Arthur (Mickey) McBride, owner of the Browns.

Brown's coaching career has been fantastic, including his years as the "miracle man" at Massillon high school. In his last six seasons there his clubs won 58, lost one and tied one and averaged about 18,000 per game in attendance. He moved on to Ohio State in 1941, winning six, losing one and tying one his first year, and grabbing the national championship in 1942 when he won nine and lost one. In 1943, with a squad of freshmen and 4-F players he won three and dropped six.

Later he coached the Great Lakes Naval team, winding up with a resounding 32-7 win over a favored Notre Dame team, and then cast his lot with the professionals.

Angry Wisconsin Team Invades Ohio State

Both Clubs Still Have Bowl Chance

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Ohio State will go up against an angry Wisconsin team tomorrow at Columbus before the second sellout crowd of the Buck season, in its strongest physical condition so far this year.

Both teams will be battering away at a chance to become the leading dark horse in the race for the Rose Bowl.

Ohio State has a record of three wins and one loss, compared to one win and three losses for the Badgers. However, each team has won one and lost one conference game, and with Michigan legally out of the Bowl tilt, experts are saying the trip to the west coast may be made by a team with as many as two conference losses.

Wisconsin has an added urge to win this game to remove the stigma cast over Coach Harry Stuhldreher by the sign reading "Goodbye Harry" unfurled from the stands while the Badgers were losing 17-7 to Yale.

REALLY READY

But Ohio Coach Wes Fesler announced last night at the close of the final full Buck practice before the game:

"We'll show Wisconsin an outfit that is really 'up'."

Fesler indicated he was really satisfied with the edge the Ohio Staters had acquired during the past week of drills.

The only Ohio casualty on the books is line backer and punter Pete Perini, and even he might get the doctor's O.K. before game time.

Some Buckeye Unbeaten 11's Due For Fall

By BOB CUBBEDGE
(INS SPORTS WRITER)

Seven unbeaten Ohio College football teams challenge the law of averages tomorrow, and not more than five are likely to come out of the day's bludgeoning with their unmarred records still intact.

At least one alteration in the list is inevitable, or nearly so, when Baldwin-Wallace travels to Bowling Green. Barring a tie, either once-tied B-W or Bowling Green's four straight winners will be dumped from the undefeated list.

Wilberforce, victorious in four outings, also will be hard put to maintain its unbeaten string against Tennessee A & I in a game to be played at Washington, D. C.

Otherwise, Denison, Heidelberg, and Kent State are expected to chalk up their fifth straight triumphs and once-tied Miami is favored to march along its merry way.

SEEKS 15TH WIN

The Big Red of Denison travels to Oberlin in search of its 15th straight win. Heidelberg is favored over Wittenberg, Kent State over Western Reserve and Miami over Ohio U.

Wilmington, knocked off the unbeaten list by little Rio Grande last week, will attempt to return to winning pastures again against Marietta tonight.

Once-beaten John Carroll and Muskingum entertain Niagara and Wooster, respectively, tomorrow with each likely to come out on top.

Ohio State, loser only to Iowa, plays host to the Badgers of Wisconsin in a Big Ten game at Columbus.

Kenyon and Capital, each of which finally came through with a win last week, will be at each other's throats in a game tomorrow on the Kenyon home field.

TRIES ONCE AGAIN

Rio Grande guns for number two in a row against Salem.

Case, winless in four starts, tries again tomorrow in a battle with the Skibos of Carnegie Tech.

In addition to Case and Wilberforce, four other Ohio teams hit the road this weekend. Cincinnati travels to Butler for a mid-America conference game, Toledo to Springfield, Mass., Findlay to Detroit Tech, and Xavier to Western Michigan.

Meanwhile, Dayton entertains St. Louis. Youngstown welcomes Central Michigan C. E. and Ohio Wesleyan greets De Pauw.

In other Ohio games tomorrow, Olivet plays at Defiance, Akron at Mount Union and Otterbein at Ashland. Chillicothe and Kemper clash at Chillicothe tonight.

Ohio State-USC Series To Come To Halt In 1949

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The 1949 football game between Ohio State and the University of Southern California will be the last for the two schools, OSU Athletic Director Richard C. Larkins announced today.

The Bucks and the Trojans, Larkins said, will conclude the present home-and-home agreement next season in Los Angeles. Four such home-and-home dates have been made since the competition first began in 1937.

Larkins also announced that the University of Pittsburgh probably will be dropped from the Ohio State schedule in 1950 or 1951 and that Southern Methodist University would replace the University of Missouri as the home opener for the Buckeyes in 1950 and 1951.

Bookman, Yingling Lead Bowling Circles

Richard Bookman and Gene Yingling were the bowling big-shots last night as they hit honor roll scores in the Commercial B league at the Colony alleys.

Bookman rates a slight nod as No. 1 as he had the top single game, a 252, as well as 622 total to Gene Yingling's 616. His series was composed of games of 179, 191, and 252; Yingling had 232, 200, and 184.

Missing the magic circle by one pin which refused to fall was Harold Biles who had to be content with 201-197-201—599. His score was nevertheless the most consistent. Cliff Forsythe was not far behind with 191-162-242—595.

Farrell Hipp fired a 590. Frank Burton had 579; Earl Forman, 575; W. Cleckner, 574; Al Stirtzinger, 573; J. Hanrahan, 571; Bud Traxler, 561 and Ed Campbell, 560.

Rose bowl took over undisputed possession of first place by whipping Fancee Brands three straight while Dearman's Transportation was dropping one to Schroer's.

★

Sel Michalski paced the Tappan Stove league with a 228-189-158—585 followed by Joe Streitmater with 174-217-165—556. Ed Reno had 541 and George Condos, 521.

★

A fine 560 by Helen McCracken led the Women's Industrial league. Helen finished up with a brilliant 231 game after openers of 144 and 185. She was nearly 100 points ahead of Florence Handwork who had 474. Ruth Simpson turned in 472 and Nellie Bonecutter, 464.

★

Commercial "A" Women also had a good night as six of them went over the 500 mark. Hazel Hilborn led the group with 533, followed by Sue Humphrey, 521; Sis DeWeese, 513; Arlene Peters, 511; Evelyn Marshman, 509; Donna Shuster, 506; and Mary McMullen, 501.

Ohio Sports Center lost one of three games to drop into a first place tie with Mansfield Frosted Foods which took three in a row.

★

Ray Lambert led the Amvets league with a 148-201-182—531 followed by Gene Beveridge, 500, and Stan Fox, 499. Helen Pahls once again paced the Amvets Auxiliary with a 419 series.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

I'm Glad We're "Different!"

There's a lot of difference of opinion in our county on the best kind of pasture. Some say alfalfa mixed with brome grass—others say mixed with oats or barley. But all agree that a mixture's better than a single crop.

I sometimes think people are the same way—and the strength of America is its mixture of so many different strains—some from one country, some from another—right down to little differences: like folks who have a taste for beer and those who prefer cider.

From where I sit, so long as we never become intolerant of one another's different tastes—so long as we live together with our differences, and even supplement them the way brome grass does alfalfa, then we're a mighty good crop!

So neighbor—enjoy your cider while I enjoy my beer! Vote for your candidate—I'll stand by mine! But never let our differences divide us!

Meat Prices Drop 7% In Few Weeks

General Drop In Food Costs

(By Associated Press)

The consumer is getting a break on food prices for the second consecutive week.

Food indexes which declined a week ago showed no inclination to rise this week. And from various sectors of the food industry come indications that the peak may have been seen at least for the time being.

Your grocer is watching your food bills as closely as you are. And right now he is thinking in terms of encouraging you to buy more food to keep his total sales volume high.

It may seem to cost more than ever to feed your family. But the American Institute of Food Distribution says average retail prices of cost of living foods are getting down to within 3 to 4 per cent of a year ago. This compares with a spread of 12 per cent on July 15.

Meat is the most noticeable item on which prices have declined. The American Meat Institute in Chicago said they have dropped 7 per cent in the past several weeks. With the drop consumers have been increasing their buying.

In Boston Malcolm McCabe, secretary of the Massachusetts Grocers and Provisions Dealers association, said those lower prices would last for at least 60 days until the run of range cattle has been diverted.

Butter has moved down, too. From an average of around 88 cents a pound retail in New York stores in July, it has slipped to about 73 cents.

Another food that has dropped sharply is onions. Because of abundant supply, 50 pound sacks which sold for $4.50 in the Chicago market early this year now are costing only $1.35 to $1.50.

The President of Jewel Tea Co. retail food chain, told the annual meeting of the National Association of Food Chains in Chicago this week that in his opinion "food prices have passed their peak."

An executive of Philadelphia's food fair stores predicted that the general price level would remain about 50 to 60 per cent higher than the 1935-1939 average for some time.

The chain store operators are studying ways to please their customers.

"Every day brings increasing evidence that the selling of foods to the consumer is returning to normalcy," said Sidney R Rabb, president of the Super Market Institute. "The customer is demanding more for his dollar, more in terms of value, and more in terms of service."

With Thanksgiving in the offing, housewives are asked this week to consider the versatility of the cranberry. It is National Cranberry Week and the "federation of cranberry and chicken fanciers" says it's high time the eating public learned that cranberries are just as good with chicken as with turkey.

Piles Are Never "Mild"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Elmo Roper Predicts

Dewey Might Face Democratic Senate

The country faces the irony that, after Jan. 20, a Republican President may confront a Democratic Senate, instead of, as for the last two years, vice versa. It would represent a kind of bi-partisanship that Mr. Dewey has not been talking about.

For, by all the indicators we can discover, ticket-splitting and the crossing of party lines are going to be largely evident in this election year.

A shift in only four seats can produce a Democratic Senate. The luck of the draw in this year's 32 Senatorial races puts eight Republican-held seats in jeopardy as compared with only four Democratic seats.

In Illinois and Michigan where Republican Senators C. Wayland Brooks and Homer Ferguson are respectively seeking re-election, all indications are that they will win, though by not nearly the margin with which Mr. Dewey will lead Mr. Truman in both states. But these are the only states among the doubtful 12 in which the Republicans can breathe somewhat easily.

In Iowa, Wyoming and West Virginia, if Republican incumbents win, it will probably be by wafer-thin margins. In Wyoming, the usually reliable Crossley Poll puts the state in the Republican column on the Presidential line, but in the Senate race, according to other reports, Democratic Governor Lester Hunt—who was elected Governor in the Republican sweep of 1946—is given a better than even chance of bucking the current again this year and of defeating Republican Senator Edward Robertson.

In West Virginia, which is all evened up in the Truman-Dewey race, former Governor Matthew Neely is rated an even bet to unseat incumbent Republican Senator Chapman Revercomb. And in Kentucky, Republican Senator John Sherman Cooper will have to ride out a probable Truman-Barkley sweep of his state to go back to Washington next year.

SPLIT IN IOWA

But one of the most notable examples of ticket-splitting will take place in Iowa. The Iowa Poll puts Mr. Dewey far out in front in that state by a margin of 54 to 38 per cent of the vote. Yet on the Senatorial level the race between Republican Senator George Wilson and former Democratic Senator Guy Gillette is just about a stand-off. And some reports from Iowa go so far as to give Mr. Gillete a slim edge, with still two weeks to go.

In Oklahoma and in Minnesota, the Democrats are given almost odds-on chances of picking up Senatorial seats from the Republicans. In Oklahoma, well known Governor Robert Kerr is heavily favored to defeat his Republican opponent, Representative Ross Rizley, who is trying to hold the seat of retiring Senator Moore.

But in Minnesota, a most dramatic Democratic "landslide" appears to be taking place. There, despite an apparent toss-up in the Presidential race Mayor Humbert Humphrey of Minneapolis is given a lead of 52 to 40 per cent over Republican Senator Joseph Ball, according to "The Minneapolis Tribune" poll. Unless Senator Ball performs a miracle in the dying days of the campaign, Minnesota seems to be at least a net gain of one for the Democrats. Mr. Dewey's reconciliation with Senator Ball a few days ago might narrow the margin.

But turning the political coin over, observers have pointed to Democratic, Senate seats in Tennessee, Montana, Colorado and New Mexico as being likely to slide over into the Republican column in the Dewey landslide. Reports from Tennessee, however, indicate that Democratic Representative Estes Kefauver should be able to edge out former Republican National Chairman B. Carroll Reece. And, according to "The Denver Post's" poll in Colorado, Senator Edwin Johnson, Democrat, should win in a "landslide" (that's what they report) over Will Nicholson, his Republican opponent.

NIP AND TUCK

In New Mexico and in Montana, THE Democrats might not be as sure of being re-elected. Senator James Murray of Montana is reported in some trouble and might be edged out by Republican Tom Davis. In New Mexico, former Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson is waging a nip-and-tuck battle with former Ambassador Patrick Hurley, the Republican candidate. Though Crossley reports the state with a 52-48 edge for Mr. Truman, both the Senate and Presidential races in New Mexico are so close that the outcome can go either way.

So out of the four crucial Senate contests for seats which the Democrats now hold, it appears that only two are in any real jeopardy. Yet, out of the eight Republican-held seats, it is possible for the Democrats to win four and reasonably certain that they will win two.

If the foregoing analysis is in any way an indication (and in those cases where predictions are made they are based not on the "Fortune" survey but on poll figures from usually reliable state polling agencies), then whatever land is sliding in the Senatorial reaces appears to be in the Democratic, not Republican, direction.

We cannot be certain if the surge of Democratic strength in these Senatorial races will be enough to win them control of the upper chamber next year. It would appear, however, that the next Senate will be controlled by a very slim margin. Whether that margin will be two for the Republicans, two for the Democrats, or a tie of 48 seats each, only later predictions and the actual election results will reveal. But it is just possible that some months after Mr. Dewey assumes his office next January, one thought that might be going through his mind will be "Whose 'landslide' was it, anyhow?"

Library Budget Request For 1949 Boosted $7,000

The 1949 burget for the Mansfield school district public library has been set at $56,630. Miss Lois MacKellar, chief librarian, announced today.

The 1949 figure represents an increase of $7,000 over the 1948 budget. The increase was granted to cover increased costs and expenses.

Of the total amount, $50,000 was allocated by the county budget commission. The remaining $6,630 will come from the board of education. In 1948 the library received $43,000 from the budget commission and $6,630 from the board of education.

The 1949 funds will be used to operate the public library, help the school libraries, and pay off the balance of the cost of the bookmobile.

The new burget will permit the library to spend more money for books in 1949, Miss MacKellar said. However, since prices of books are higher, it will not mean an increase in the number of books which can be purchased.

French Plane Is Missing

ALGIERS —(U.P.)— Seventeen persons aboard a French B-26 bomber missing in the Mediterranean since yesterday were presumed dead following a widespread search for the plane.

The plane left Rabat, Morocco, early yesterday for Istres airport near Marseilles.

It carried a crew of five and 12 officer-instructors from a Morocco aviation school who were being flown to France to pilot planes to North Africa.

Book Supply In Millions

CHICAGO— —(U.P.)— Public libraries in the United States own approximately 130,000,000 volumes, according to the International City Managers' Association, and the number is increasing rapidly.

A survey showed that many of the more than 6,000 public libraries in the nation are expanding by construction of more book space and reading rooms and addition of film libraries and other special services.

At present, one out of every five or six big city residents is a registered book borrower, the association said.

Art Schreck and Lloyd Amato returned from California, reporting an enjoyable trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Norris recently flew to Elsie, Mich., to spend the night with their grandparents. Then they visited in Port Huron, Mich., Hamilton, Ont., Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Ashtabula O.

Paul Guthrie flew "Vic" Day of Fotocraft over Mansfield and Park Avenue west to take photos of residences and a delicatessen.
